Midland Conference Ends

Abel Asks Steelworker Support For Humphrey

Endorsement of Vice President Hubert Humphrey for the Democrat nomination to the Presidency was urged over the weekend for members of District 20, United Steel Workers, at the annual conference at Midland.

Some 400 attended the Saturday night dinner at which USW President I. W. Abel asked the steelworkers to give their full support to Humphrey in the upcoming campaign.

Abel also issued an appeal to the entire union not to let smaller, local issues prevent progress on industry-wide bargaining for a new contract.

Among the topics aired at the annual meeting were jurisdictional friction between the union and the construction trades over various projects in the Crucible Steel Corp. plant at Midland and elsewhere.

IN HIS TALK Saturday night, Abel said the union's executive board heard Humphrey speak at a luncheon at Washington last week.

Abel said the talk had been planned for six months, even before Humphrey had announced his candidacy, because 20 years ago Humphrey had made a speech at a conference of the steelworkers convention in Boston, Mass. Abel said the speech was appropriate today because he was asking for legislation for equal rights for all citizens and fair employment practices.

Abel said the leadership of Johnson and Humphrey has done great things for the people of the United States, "but there has been nothing but abuse heaped on the President." He cited their work in civil rights, health, minimum wage policy and Social Security. He said they had taken 12 million Americans out of poverty.

ABEL OUTLINED the advances of the union during the last two years. He said in 1965, after much work to provide the program, management agreed to start an on the job training program. In the pilot programs in Gary, Ind., and Baltimore, Md., in 1966 the first classes were graduated.

Abel said the union is growing steadily in spite of what people say. He said the membership is the highest since October 1965. The union now has 1,108,000 dues paying members, including 45,000 who were on strike and several thousand who were sick or laid off before not paying dues.

Speaking of struggles between unions to get membership, Abel said when mergers can be worked out, they provide greater strength. He spoke of the merger between the mine mill and smelters and the steelworkers, and said it can be done in other cases.

He spoke of negotiations over the years, and said although everything asked for was not given, they continued to negotiate and commented, "I have never seen a group of people achieve so much on failures."

ABEL SAID in the past few years much has been done for civil rights. He said each district has been asked to set up committees for local problems. He said revisions are being made in several cities.

"1968 is a most troubled time, especially in labor, but it will be good experience being put to the test to find solutions for problems." He cited the unrest in the country concerning civil rights, schools, universities, politics and even in religion, not only in this country but throughout the world. He said the good people must maintain their head so subversives don't take advantage of the unrest. Abel commended the recent contract accomplishments with Crucible Steel Co.

Judge Ralph Scalera said people are concerned about law and order and rightly so. "We should re-examine our attitudes."

"Respect for law and law and order are necessary," He said throughout history the same thing has happened, but the system of law will survive.

AL LONA, president of Local 1212, thanked Kay Kluz, district 20 director, for his guidance of the conference and its conclusion. He said, "Each time he rapped his gavel, it was a step to a better and brighter tomorrow."

Lona said the negotiations with Crucible and Local 1212 are a milestone in the history of contract negotiations and

French Say Strike Fails In Purpose

Little Effect Seen As Students, Unions Join In Slowdowns

PARIS (AP) — French labor unions, students and opposition politicians joined today in the first nationwide general strike of President Charles de Gaulle's 10-year rule. But by midday the attempt to paralyze France appeared to have fallen far short of its mark.

Except for scattered slowdowns and disruptions the country seemed largely unaffected.

Train service was reduced, departure of international flights from France was canceled, traffic in the cities was less than normal. But power supplies continued with only spotty interruptions and many shops and offices did business as usual.

In Paris, one of the electricity cutoffs hit the two hotels housing the U.S. and North Vietnamese delegations to the Vietnam peace conference.

Talks Unaffected But at the conference building, where full-scale discussions got under way this morning, there were no effects.

The nation's four main trade unions acted together for the first time in more than a decade to organize the strike.

Security officials hoped that a major demonstration planned during the afternoon would not turn violent. Thousands of students were expected to join with workers in a three-hour march through a working class district to the left bank.

The strike was called in support of students at the University of Paris whose conflict with the government erupted last week in bloody battles with police.

The riots, strikes and demonstrations could not have come at a more embarrassing time for De Gaulle with hundreds of foreign newsmen assembled for the opening today of the Vietnam peace talks.

Miners Balk At Work In Disaster Site

HOMINY FALLS, W.Va. (AP) — Mine operators are refusing to send their men back to work in honeycombed Big Sewell Mountain until rescue workers locate the bodies of 10 men believed to have drowned in a flooded coal shaft there, an official said.

There are at least nine active mines in the mountain, owned by Maust Coal Co. and the Imperial Coal Co. Some are operated by subsidiaries of these large companies and others by independent contractors.

In addition there is a maze of abandoned mine tunnels—and the mine operators have realized that they too might be tunneling dangerously close to one of these old flooded workings.

Twenty-five men were trapped underground May 6 when a crew of miners working in the Gauley Coal and Coke Co. No. 8 mine—a Maust subsidiary—accidentally broke into a Hey Snoopy!

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — A World War I Spad, a Fokker D-VII, a Sopwith Camel and other vintage aircraft will be auctioned May 29.

About 30 planes from World War I and II, will go on sale. They are part of a collection gathered by two stunt pilots and movie flyers—Frank Tallman and the late Paul Mantz. Two Nebraska investment firms acquired the planes a year ago.

According to deputies, the truck driver swerved to the right to avoid hitting Albano's car, which was left of center traveling south on Route 2. The car was a total loss and the tractor part of the truck was deeply imbedded in the embankment. The truck was carrying some 73,000 pounds of oxygen, deputies said.

162 Candidates Listed

Democrat Contests Mark Hancock Primary Voting

Hancock County Democrats will go to the polls Tuesday to select county and district nominees from a host of candidates on the party ticket, while Republicans will have a much smaller field from which to pick.

Some 12,000 are estimated to turn out in the county balloting, according to election officials.

Democrats have races in every office — including six for Sheriff, three for Prosecutor and six for County commissioner.

Republicans have but two county contests — for sheriff and commissioner.

A total of 22,913 are registered for the primary election. This compares with 21,498 registered in the 1966 general election, a gain of 1,415.

IN THE 1966 general election, only 12,200 voters or 54.1 per cent went to the polls.

Polls in the 39 precincts will open tomorrow at 6:30 a.m. and close at 7:30 p.m.

There are 15,707 Democrats,

Forecast Promises Area 'Fair, Warmer'

The rains having come and gone, at least for the time being, more enjoyable weather is in prospect for the tri-state district.

Fair and warmer is the forecast for Tuesday. It will be partly cloudy tonight, with little change in temperature. The low will range from the mid 40s to the lower 50s.

7,125 Republicans and 81 Independents registered this year. Butler District shows the largest number of voters with 14,982 registered. Of this, 10,678 are Democrats, 4,246 are Republicans and 58 are Independents.

Grant District has 5,275 registered voters. There are 3,189 Democrats, 2,069 Republicans and 17 Independents.

Clay District has 2,656 registered voters — 1,840 are Democrats, 812 are Republicans and 6 are Independents.

Campaign Nears End

Governor Contest Holds West Virginia Attention

CHARLESTON (AP) — Primary election voting in West Virginia Tuesday will conclude a raucous campaign marked by an especially bitter struggle for the Republican nomination for governor.

Between the hours of 6:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., registered Democrats and Republicans will grapple with monstrously long ballots in 2,509 polling places around the state.

Based on past performance, not much over half the eligibles will vote.

In the primary four years ago, 67 per cent of the registered Democrats and 32 per cent of the Republicans voted, for an over-all turnout of 49 per cent. However, there was no serious

A total of 162 candidates will seek nominations in the county. The Democrats have the largest ticket with 126 candidates. The Republican ballot will show 36 county candidates.

This does not include those seeking nomination for state and federal offices.

DEMOCRATS in the race for Sheriff are Jack Evans of New Cumberland and Edward J. Malinowski, (Mickey) M. Malinowski, Frank A. Rocchio, Lou Smo-

U.S. Claims Supplies Go Into South

North Viet Blasts 'Aggression' Plans At French Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The United States accused North Vietnam directly today of moving "substantial and increasing numbers of troops and supplies" into the South, and called on the Hanoi government to take some "important step toward peace."

In an opening statement at the first round of substantive negotiations, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman renewed a U.S. offer to withdraw forces from Vietnam if and when the North pulls its forces from the South and the "level of violence" subsides.

"For our part," Harriman declared, "we desire no bases in South Vietnam, and we are prepared to leave the facilities we have built there to the people to use as they wish."

'Aggression' Claimed

For the other side, Xuan Thuy told the meeting the United States has been defeated but is continuing its "aggression" against the people of Vietnam.

An outline of Xuan Thuy's speech was given to a news conference after the meeting by Nguyen Thanh Le, chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation.

Xuan Thuy said the United States had been condemned by international opinion including opinion in the United States. President Johnson, he added, had been obliged to announce a limitation of U.S. bombing but in reality aerial bombardment of an important part of the country is continuing and U.S. reconnaissance planes continue to fly over the country including the capital.

Xuan Thuy charged that new troops were being brought from the United States and new appropriations were being sought from Congress.

For the United States Harriman told the more than three-hour meeting the securing of South Vietnam's freedom from outside interference is "at the core" of "serious and productive actions" for peace.

He also proposed:

1. The United States and North Vietnam should restore the demilitarized zone "to its proper and original status."

2. The neutralization agree-

Allies Crush Viet Assault Upon Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command says allied troops have crushed the main thrust of the Communist command's nine-day attack on Saigon, but it also announced the loss of a Special Forces camp 350 miles to the northeast.

Headquarters said Special Forces—Green Beret—troops and South Vietnamese irregulars were evacuated by air Sunday from the Kham Duc Camp after North Vietnamese troops attacked one of its outposts and threatened to overrun the entire camp.

The enemy shot down one of the evacuation planes, a four-engine C130 transport, killing the six Air Force crewmen and an undisciplined number of civilian irregulars and South Vietnamese army soldiers, U.S. headquarters said. A C130 can carry about 100 troops.

The camp, with about 400 defenders, came under attack Friday. Headquarters said preliminary spokesmen said more than 300 killed and 89 wounded. It

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Split Books Ease Waiting

DEAR HELOISE: I am a commuter and often found waiting a bore — until I learned about paperback books.

I tear them in halves, thirds and yes, sometimes even fourths! You wonder why? Well, they can be tucked in a coat pocket or in a purse with no added bulk. Not only does it give me something to do while going back and forth, but at least this is one way to get my reading done.

I even tore up one of your paperback hint books, my dear friend, passed it around to my co-workers and we traded fourths every two days. That made me lots of new friends in the office!

How about that?

HELOISE

DEVOTED.

One paperback book I bought was very thick. I found it was even easier to read this way because lots of us like to turn those little books backward so they are more simple to hold onto.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Your article about putting little butterflies on glass sliding doors to keep friends from walking right through the doors amused me. I have been trying to imagine what it would be like to have this "problem."

We have eight children, and with 80 little fingerprints on the glass, our biggest problem with glass sliding doors is being able to see out without opening them!

MRS. D. B.

DEAR HELOISE: I often have trouble recognizing my tennis balls at the school courts. So I made stripes or pumpkin faces on all of them with a felt marking pen. Now my tennis balls are easy to spot.

TYANE HENNIG.

DEAR HELOISE: I am no seamstress, but with three teen-age daughters, I have become a "hemmer-upper."

I have been trying to do this job right but tonight, in desperation, I discovered a simpler and easier way.

I wanted to shorten the skirt of a six-year-old suit which had been shortened a time or two along the way. Now it had to be cut off and new binding sewn on.

Well, the stores were closed and I wanted to wear it that night. So I cut the skirt off and not having the binding, sewed around the rough edge twice in a loose basting stitch on the machine. Then turned it up and hemmed as usual.

It's easier, faster, cheaper, and who will know? It looks just fine.

MRS. RM LAYNE.

Just think of the working gals and wives who are going to save time and money using that one. You got a good cranium, honey chile!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When my children got too big for a car seat, I purchased a contour bed cushion — the kind without arms.

I turned this upside down for more height, on the back seat of our car. Now my children are locked safely in their seat belts and sitting on a cushion big enough so they can see everything going on outside the car windows.

MRS. GERALD KERR.

DEAR HELOISE: When brushing my felt hat, I use a slightly damp sponge. This seems to absorb all of the dust and dirt and the hat comes out beautifully.

Works on suede shoes, too.

MRS. W. F. HOWARD.

DEAR HELOISE: When you are wallpapering, put a toothpick in any nail hole you want to use again. Cut it off about "s" from the wall.

It will poke a little hole in the tender, wet paper and when the job is done, it's no problem to

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Rome is built on seven hills — as many hills as there are days in a week. But Rio de Janeiro is set on or around 365 hills and mountain peaks, which is one for each day of the year. Tallest of them is Corcovado (Hunchback Mountain), which rises 2,330 feet above the nearby South Atlantic.

Skyscrapers Out

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The municipal chamber has decreed that no building must exceed 80 meters in Lourenco Marques. The decree is in keeping with the wishes of municipal officials in Portugal and its African territories of Angola and Mozambique. The tallest building on Portuguese territory is the 26-story Banco Commercial de Angola, in Luanda. Buildings in the Portuguese capital city of Lisbon are considerably smaller, with the tallest being 15 stories.

Settlers Sought

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The territorial government will open a special office this year in hopes of attracting 17,000 white settlers from mother-country Portugal in the next six years. The settlers will have tracts of land waiting for them in special zones, and costs of their transportation here will be deducted from future agricultural profits, officials say. The office will aid prospective settlers.

How 10% Tax Surcharge Works

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Americans will begin paying more federal income taxes shortly, if Congress enacts the 10 per cent surcharge package worked out by Senate-House conferees—and if President Johnson signs it.

The President has sought the tax hike but it is not certain he will go along with congressional demands for a $6 billion spending cut that would accompany it.

Here is how the tax proposal would work:

Q—When would the 10 per cent tax surcharge affect my paycheck?

A—The surcharge, if signed into law, would go into effect 15 days after the signing. The Treasury Department is now planning to begin collecting the additional tax about June 10.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With Little Worry

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Then sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH holds dentures firmer and more comfortably. Makes eating easier. It's alkaline—doesn't sour. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feel. Helps check plate odor. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

Q—What is a surcharge?

A—It's actually a tax levied on a tax. The Treasury and Johnson administration preferred the tax increase in this way instead of a basic change in rates to preserve its identity as a temporary tax and to make it easier to remove once the Vietnam war permits.

Q—How many Americans will pay the tax?

A—The Treasury estimates about 83 million. About 17 million others in the two lowest income tax brackets—those who pay taxes at the 14 and 15 per cent rates—will pay nothing more.

Q—How will I pay the tax?

A—Beginning with the first paycheck after June 10, according to the present schedule, your paycheck will reflect a deduction covering the surcharge. For example, if $15 a week is now deducted from your paycheck for federal income taxes, you will pay an additional $1.50 for a total of $16.50.

Q—How long must I pay this extra tax?

A—Until June 30, 1969, unless Congress extends it beyond that point.

Q—Isn't the tax retroactive?

A—Yes, but it won't affect the amount withheld from your paycheck. The surcharge on individual taxes would go into effect as of April 1. You won't begin paying it until June under the tentative schedule, thus missing more than two months of deductions from your paycheck.

Q—Will I be required to pay this later?

A—Yes, but not until you file your income tax return for 1968 by April 15 of next year. When you figure out how much tax you owe the government for 1968 at that time, you will be required to assess the surcharge from the previous April 1.

This will be included in the instructions the Internal Revenue Service will send to you next January at income tax-filing time. As a result of the surcharge you may get a smaller refund next year or be required to pay more by April 15 than you ordinarily would.

Q—How about an example?

A—Let's suppose you're married with two children and earn $10,000 a year. For 1968, you would pay $1,114 in federal income taxes if you took the standard deduction allowed on your return.

With the surcharge effective April 1 you would pay $1,198 in taxes this year, an increase of $84. During 1969, your tax bill would be $1,170, or $56 above what it would have been without a surcharge.

Q—Who is exempt?

A—Single persons who pay $95 or less in taxes will pay nothing additional. The same applies to persons filing joint returns who now pay $290 in taxes or less and persons filing as head of a household who pay $220 or less in taxes.

Q—Will corporations also pay a surcharge?

A—Yes, and for corporations the tax will be assessed from last Jan. 1. Corporations also face a speedup in their tax payments to put them on a more current basis.

Q—Are there other parts of the tax package?

A—The measure also includes an extension of the 10 per cent tax on telephone service and the 7 per cent manufacturers excise tax on automobiles.

Q—How much will the government collect over-all from the surcharge?

A—Through June 30, 1969, the government expects to collect $7.75 billion in additional taxes from individuals and $3.83 billion from corporations—$11.6 billion in all. The speedup in corporate tax collections will mean an additional $960 million to the Treasury while almost $3 billion will come from extension of the excise taxes.

This raises the total to $15.53 billion, including almost $1.5 billion in the current fiscal year and $14.04 billion in the next fiscal year.

Kennedy Due At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy visits Columbus tonight to try to convince Ohio's big Democratic convention delegation to back him for the presidential nomination.

The New York senator is scheduled to arrive at Port Columbus airport at 8:30 p.m. He is expected to deliver a 20-minute speech at the airport and then go by motorcade to downtown for a reception.

"We hope to see every person in Columbus during the visit," Kennedy said from his primary election headquarters in Nebraska last week. He is a candidate in Nebraska's primary Tuesday.

"If people can't make it to the airport, we would like to greet them anywhere along the motorcade route or at the entrance to the Neil House," Kennedy added.

At the hotel, Kennedy plans to talk with the delegates in groups of 15 to 20. Most of the 128-member delegation is uncommitted, but pledged to Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, as a favorite son.

Kennedy will be met at the airport by Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, Democratic senatorial nominee John J. Gilligan, State Chairman Morton Neipp and Cuyahoga County Chairman Albert Porter.

The motorcade from the airport will be through Negro districts on the East Side.

Before leaving Tuesday morning, Kennedy will meet with prominent political and labor leaders at a breakfast.

Soviet Bear Growling

The big, bad Soviet bear, trying to stifle Czechoslovakia's continuing attempts to liberalize and move away from the rigid Communist-type controls, is growling threateningly.

It is marching troops around in Poland near the Czechoslovakian border, showing its muscle in a menacing way. There are indications, as yet unverified, that Russian forces within East Germany also are on the move.

The "Iron Curtain" which the Communists dropped between themselves and the Western world seems more a curtain of mail than of solid iron for more and more of the ideology and capitalistic practices of the free nations are filtering through the links of the curtains "chain metal."

THE EXPRESSION of discontent with the Communist "establishment" ripples the Russian masters as it focuses the imperfectness of their system for the world to see. They can ill afford defections from their controlled group of satellite nations.

Evidence of political ferment in the Soviet satellites has appeared at frequent intervals since the death of Stalin in 1953. A wave of protest occurred in 1956 which might well be compared with the current increase in political tension.

The question then, as now, was how far could the local (national) regimes go with "Socialist democratization" without endangering their control of their nation's life — how much could they liberalize before the Soviet masters cracked down.

In 1956, it was from Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary that the strongest demands for further liberalization came.

The world can hardly forget the ruthless way in which the Soviets stamped out the Hungarian's bid for freedom, in a bath of blood.

The restiveness continues in Poland today, some 12 years later, but it is in Czechoslovakia that the desire for freedom from oppressiveness of communism now seems greatest.

In all three of these countries there had been demands for freedom in parliamentary debate, for an end to arbitrary terror, for elimination of censorship and for curbs on bureaucracy in the party and government.

Those demands keep springing up to plague the Russians. When the restiveness becomes too obvious, they resort to force or the threat of force to keep the subjugated countries under their control.

NOW SEEMS an ideal time for the United States and the other nations of the West to exploit this weakness. Somehow encouragement and support for the "revisionists" within Czechoslovakia should be extended.

The United Nations should be called upon to do what it can to prevent Russia from using military force to resubjugate Czechoslovakia.

A diplomatic offensive should be launched, in strength, against Russia.

It is vulnerable in this area and it should be exposed clearly, for all to see, if it dares to interfere militarily with the changes taking place inside Czechoslovakia.

Engineer's Engineer

Planner, adviser and community friend in the tri-state district for nearly three decades, Michael Baker Jr. of Beaver is due a professional accolade from his fellow engineers of the Keystone State.

Baker, whose consulting firm has served Midland, East Liverpool, Ohioville, Industry and many other area towns and has been involved in projects across the world, will be honored as "Engineer of the Year" Friday at Hershey as "Engineer of the Year" Friday at Hershey by the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers.

This will cap the years of respect Baker and his firm of 1,000 have earned from the engineering world, another tribute Baker has collected in his energetic and resourceful career in which few tasks were too small or too large.

In Beaver County, Baker's past accomplishments and the future he has carved for the firm easily qualify him for "engineer of the Twentieth Century."

The Fight Over Freedom To Fish

The perplexing question of international waters is in the news again. Seven countries of Latin America — Argentina, Chile, Ecuador, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Panama, and Peru — claim exclusive national fishing rights in the seas up to 200 miles offshore. Three other countries, Costa Rica, Colombia and Uruguay are considering similar jurisdictional claims.

Chile made the first claim of a 200-mile maritime zone in 1947. Peru quickly followed. Chile, Peru and Ecuador signed the Declaration of Santiago in 1952 to consolidate their claim.

At a conference on the law of the sea in 1960, the United States joined Canada in offering a compromise proposal to extend territorial waters to 6 miles offshore, plus an added 6 miles for exclusive national fishing rights. The proposal narrowly failed to win the necessary two-thirds majority vote, leaving the issue unsettled.

Since then, as the U.S. State Department observed in 1966, "There has been a trend toward the establishment of a 12-mile fisheries rule in international practice." Later that year the United States agreed to recognize a 12-mile limit for fishing rights.

Testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee last year disclosed that 50 per cent of the U.S. tuna fleet had been subjected to seizures, harassments and unfortunate incidents between January 1961 and September 1967. The most recent incident occurred last month when the tuna boat Paramount of San Diego was released by Ecuador only after the owners paid fines of $22,000.

The United States, at a meeting Wednesday in Santiago, will try to get Ecuador, Peru and Chile to agree on an agenda for a full-scale conference in the dispute. Our principal representative will be Donald L. McKernan, special assistant for fisheries and wildlife to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

This country, it is understood, is prepared to offer financial and technical assistance for studies of fish conservation and marketing, as well as aid for the development of national fishing industries.

The Washington Post suggests further compromise on exclusive fishing rights 25 miles offshore. Then, says the newspaper, "attempts by any country to enforce special privileges beyond the treaty limit could be properly regarded as piracy and dealt with as such."

The principal effect so far of the 200-mile claims has been on tuna fishing off Ecuador and Peru and whaling off Chile. Of the 200,000 tons of tuna caught on the Pacific coast of Latin America last year, U.S. vessels accounted for 75 per cent. Ecuador's share was 6 per cent.

The U.S. Senate on April 3 adopted, 49 to 24, a measure which would increase guarantees to American-owned fishing ships to include license and other charges as well as fines levied under what Chairman Warren D. Magnuson of the Senate Commerce Committee called the "preposterous" 200-mile claim.

The House had rejected a similar bill last year. Even should the House reverse its action this year, the measure would be only a temporary stopgap until a general agreement can be reached.

Thoughts For The Day

Too many people are thinking of security instead of opportunity. They seem more afraid of life than death.—James F. Byrnes, former U.S. secretary of state.

For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.—Romans 6:23.

Reason often makes mistakes, but conscience never does.—Josh Billings, American humorist.

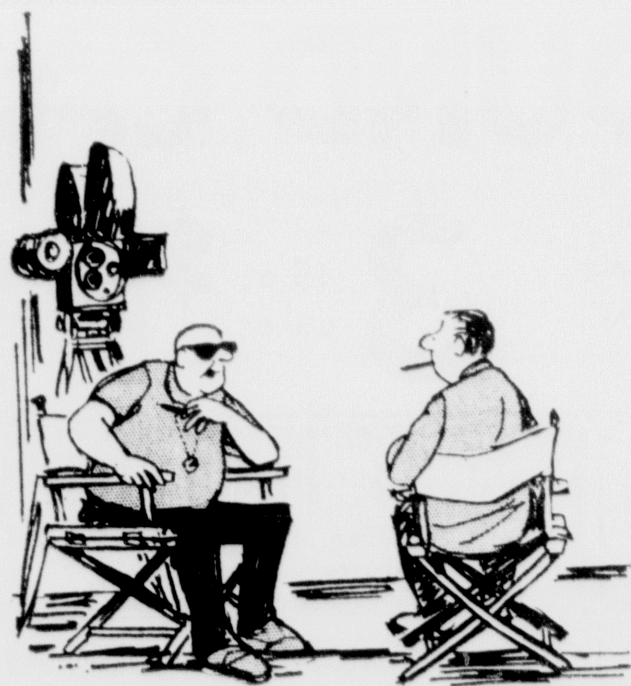

No one could ever meet death for his country without the hope of immortality.—Marcus Cicero, Roman orator and statesman.

And your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying, "This is the way, walk in it," when you turn to the right or when you turn to the left.—Isaiah 30:21.

The spark of sin in our hearts can also blaze up into what put Him on the cross.—Arthur L. Miller, American playwright.

'At Least They Can't Say We're Drugged'

The Campaign Ploy

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Every presidential election year, we Americans get a chance to test our friendship and relations with people we dearly love. This is especially true in 1968 when so many candidates are running for office.

I'm one of those people who can't stand losing friends and so, when a very attractive lady at a cocktail party the other night said to me, "Who are you for?" I just blushed into my Fresca and said:

"Well, it's a very hard choice."

"What do you mean, hard choice? Don't tell me you're for Kennedy?"

"Who are you for?" I asked, trying to change the subject.

"I'm for Hubert. I have a lot of faith in him."

Art Buchwald

"WELL, I'M CERTAINLY not for Kennedy," I said, picking up her cue. "Hubert's a very attractive man."

Another lady joined us. "McCarthy deserves it. He went up to New Hampshire all by himself."

"McCarthy's got a kind face," I said. "He also has a lot of humor."

A third lady came up and said, "Hubert's for Johnson and I'm against Johnson, so I'm for Bobby."

"Bobby's got a lot going for him," I said to her.

"You can have them all," a Republican friend chimed in. "Nixon's still got the most experience and he can unite the country."

"We need a united country right now," I said, putting some more ice in my glass.

"Never Nixon. He's a loser. The only one who can beat the Democrats is Rocky," a woman I have always admired said.

"You should have a candidate who can beat the Democrats," I told her.

"You know what the trouble with Bobby Kennedy is?" one of the ladies asked.

"I SURE WOULD LIKE to know," I said, hoping to ingratiate myself with her.

"He's got too many children," she said.

"You can say that again," I told her.

"McCarthy is the most disorganized man in politics," a Kennedy supporter said.

"There's more to running this country than a children's crusade. He's not serious about wanting to be President."

"I always suspected that of him," I said.

One of the pretty girls on the left said, "Hubert sold out the liberals. He's now the darling of the South and big business."

"And he's always smiling," I said, hoping to win back some points.

The Nixon supporter said, "Rocky can't even make up his mind whether he wants to run or not, so how can he decide the bigger questions of the day?"

"He's been married twice," I reminded her.

"That may be," said Rocky's friend, "but you still have to ask yourself if you'd buy a used car from Nixon."

"I don't drive, but if I did I wouldn't," I assured her.

"You're not for Harold Stassen?" someone wanted to know. "Only if they tear all my fingernails out," I assured the questioner.

"WELL, IT SEEMS to me you must be for somebody," a lady said.

I just smiled sickly. "Does anyone want to see me stand on my head?"

Later, on the way home from the party, my wife let me have it.

"You made a fool of yourself again. Can't you ever go to a party without talking politics?"

VICTOR RIESEL

People's War Against Crime

CLEVELAND: — Here they're on the Community Radio Watch.

Thousands of citizen volunteers, drivers of trucks, buses, taxis, delivery "wagons" equipped with two-way radios, look out for killers, muggers, roving gangs, looters, burglars, civil disorders, dangerous situations and fearful lone workers.

Here, as in a network of 500 other cities and communities — soon to escalate to 800 — the radio watchers flash word to their dispatchers who in turn signal police, firefighters, sheriffs, hospitals, the Coast Guard and the military, if necessary.

Nobody wants to hurt anybody. But nobody wants to get hurt — on or off the job.

And it's time someone said it bluntly — lots of working people are being slugged, mugged, bruised, beaten, and even killed as they earn their daily bread.

You can't philosophize with the widows or the dead. There's crime in the streets and many unions and thousands of firms have banded together in a fantastic unreported do-it-yourself crime-fighting campaign to help harassed police departments, municipal leaders and one-man small town safety headquarters.

People are frightened. How can they not be? In San Francisco on the night of April 9, a single rifle shot killed bus driver Martin Whitted. A few minutes later his change maker was stolen.

A REPORT FROM Houston reveals that bus robberies have tripled in each of the past few years. As of Mar. 11, there had been 120 bus holdups this year according to Capt. L. C. Colley, head of the robbery squad.

At a recent House Postal Committee hearing, Jack Leventhal, president of the Brooklyn section of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, AFL-CIO, told a grim story of regular mass holdups days. These fall on the first and 16th of each month when the carriers deliver thousands of welfare and pension checks.

This is a new trend. In the past the thieves would rifle individual letter boxes. Now, he said, they waylay the post office man and just snatch the loot in bulk.

One member of his local died after a brutal beating. Another died from a heart attack after pursuing a robber.

Leventhal's colleague, James Rademacher, a union vice president, reported the assaults, thievery, disdain for the uniform and disrespect for law and order have made the job of a letter carrier increasingly dangerous in many large cities.

Nor do other public service workers find it easier to work for a living. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. provides sleeping quarters for its night operators in Baltimore (when not on strike) to safeguard them, for it's not safe to leave the building at night.

WELFARE WORKERS ALWAYS seem to be under siege. Municipal employees union records are filled with grim — and ghastly — reports of beatings, an occasional death, rape, and long sieges. Many sleep in their centers at night when work has kept them in after nightfall.

One welfare worker, a member of the State, County and Municipal Employees, almost lost an eye when an assailant thrust a lit cigarette into it.

Private business does no better. The new thievery hits free enterprise as well as public services. So some businessmen gathered one day in Cincinnati at the end of 1966, according to the records, and launched what is now known as the Community Radio Watch program.

It covers more than half the nation's cities with populations of 100,000 or more. Some 26,000 firms and scores of unions are involved in the two-way radio system. The "Watch" is sponsored by the Communications Division of Motorola Corp. It's the largest citizens anticrime operation of modern times.

The "Watch" is kept by railroad men as well as bus drivers and over the highway truck drivers.

It's helping. Some day, men and women will again be able to go about their business, day or night, earning their daily bread free from the young marauders, dope addicts, and thugs who are turning the main drags of our big cities into jungles.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Growth Pains

The origins of a new Republican Party in the states from Texas to South Carolina may generally be dated in the 1960 presidential election. For in that year Richard Nixon received a very considerable vote in the growing cities and more enlightened parts of those states.

Encouraged by that showing, a group of young men and women emerged and vigorously and hopefully worked to build a real opposition party down to the grass roots.

The youngest of those pioneer leaders was John Grenier of Birmingham who became state chairman in 1962. The election results in that year were most encouraging. For in the contest for senator, James D. Martin came within a few thousand votes of defeating veteran Democrat Lister Hill.

AFTER THAT ELECTION, leaders in those states worked hard toward the nomination of Barry Goldwater in 1964. Grenier was charged by the Goldwater people with rounding up the delegates in the southeastern states and his efforts were most successful.

While Goldwater easily won in that area, the result nationally was discouraging. But Republicans in Alabama continued their efforts through the election in 1966. In that election Martin ran against Mrs. Lurleen Wallace but polled only 29 per cent of the vote. Grenier ran for senator and polled about 40 per cent of the vote.

Since then there has been a certain amount of tension in the Alabama Republican party. Grenier and Martin now emerge as rival candidates for the office of national committeeman and are waging a contest which will continue until the state convention in June.

This is not just a clash of personal ambitions. It involves a serious question of policy which may face other states in the South as the 1968 election approaches.

Ever since 1962 the Republican party in Alabama has avoided the issue of race. It regarded that conflict as a Democratic problem and in its appeals has stressed individual enterprise, sound fiscal management in Washington and respect for law and order.

It is Grenier's position that, while some provisions of the various civil rights laws passed by the current Congress are unsound, they are the law and it is best for the Republican party in Alabama to try to live with them.

Accordingly he caused to be invited to a Republican "workshop," sponsored by the national committee, a former leader of the NAACP — Dr. John Nixon. Martin vigorously opposed this and the national chairman called off the meeting.

The Birmingham News strongly criticized Martin's stand, saying:

"For years race issues have dominated Alabama politics. It ought to be clear to Jim Martin as it is to anybody else that the Alabama Republican party's future does not lie in that direction."

The party's future lies in an appeal to all citizens who share its beliefs. Color of skin is no prerequisite to belief in conservative approaches to government and faith in the free enterprise system as the most promising guarantee of national growth and the protection of personal freedom."

On another very important point, Grenier is appealing to the future. He believes in the development of a real party system. For many years Alabama has really had no party at all. For what passed as Democratic has merely been a succession of factional groups headed by some notable figure of which Mrs. Wallace is the most recent.

GRENIER WANTS the new Republican party to take a different course and build along with the other states of the nation rather than with personal loyalties. Martin, who is a popular figure, apparently would follow the old Democratic tradition of factional politics.

The situation is further complicated by the considerable number of Alabama members of the John Birch Society which is everywhere a divisive factor in Republican politics. There are nests of these die-hards all over these states and their presence may gravely threaten the national ticket in the election this year.

Thus, at the moment, the Alabama Republican party is hanging in the balance between the past and the promise of the future.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Henry F. Smith was installed as commander of Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Walter Emerson, W. H. Locke Anderson, A. L. White, Francis Lang, Albert E. Frosch, Paul Hutchman and C. V. Hughes were elected members of the board of directors of the Rotary Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — the 26th annual "Joy Day" was observed by members of the Wellsville Bible Study Club in the First Methodist Church, with Mrs. George Lewis elected president.

Mary McConnehey was presented a trophy by the Girls Athletic Association as the outstanding senior in the club during the Varsity "W" assembly at Wellsville High School.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Krispen Moore, a student at Beaver Local High School, placed fourth in world history and Miss Linda Baumgardner fourth in English in the district state scholarship test.

Mrs. Carolyn Vogel was installed as regent of Bethia Southwick Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Wellsville.

Governor

Moore Jr. among the four Republicans.

However, the other two GOP contenders — Peter D. Beter of Huntington and Edwin C. (Eddie) Cales of Hinton — also have campaigned extensively, even though by most accounts — except theirs — they are just fighting it out for third place.

The Democrats' other two gubernatorial candidates — William A. Lawson of Fairmont and Barber Blair F. Winans of Weston — have done little, if any, campaigning outside their home areas.

In a Charleston news conference Saturday, Moore accused Underwood of deliberately distorting facts in an attempt to ruin his reputation. Underwood has charged that lawyer Moore, in representing his law clients, has engaged in activities that conflict with his congressional obligations — a charge vehemently denied by Moore.

BETER—IN A statement prepared for radio delivery today — said he didn't "get into the fight between Arch Moore and Cecil Underwood" because he realized "nothing of permanent and lasting value can be built on destructive methods." He said, "Our mission is to unify."

The state's four Democratic incumbents in the U. S. House are running for renomination.

Two of them — Rep. Ken Hechler in the 4th District and Rep. James Kees in the 5th — are unopposed.

Although opposed, the other two Democratic incumbents are expected to win easily — Rep. Harley O. Staggers over Larry L. Chambers of Martinsburg in the 2nd District and Rep. John M. Slack Jr. over Leonard I. Underwood of St. Albans in the 3rd.

The most intensive congressional campaigning has been for 1st District nominations for the seat being vacated by Moore after six terms.

AMONG SIX candidates for the Democratic nomination, the most serious contenders appear to be former Rep. Robert H. Molohan of Fairmont, House of Delegates Speaker H. Laban White of Clarksburg, Ohio County Prosecutor Arch W. Riley of Wheeling and legislator W. R. "Squibb" Wilson of Fairmont.

Three Republicans are running in the 1st District, but the race is really between former State GOP Chairman Daniel L. Louchery of Clarksburg and Tom Sweeney of Wheeling, twice an unsuccessful U. S. Senate nominee.

Three Democratic incumbents on the Board of Public Works are running for renomination. Two — Auditor Denzil L. Gainer and Treasurer John H. Kelly — have no primary opposition. Agriculture Commissioner Gus R. Douglass is opposed by Charles E. Jenkins of Clarksburg.

The Republicans have unopposed primary candidates for secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general. Legislator John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV of Charleston is the favorite in a three-man contest for the Democratic nomination to succeed Democratic incumbent Robert D. Bailey, not running again. Rockefeller's opponents are former State Treas-

Polling Places Listed For Grant And Clay

Residents of Grant and Clay districts in Hancock County will cast their votes at the following polling places in Tuesday's primary election:

Grant — Chester City Hall, Richard Reber garage (rear of Central School Building), Chester Junior High School, Chester Elementary School, Lawrenceville Fire Station, Jack Mercer residence (Middle Run), Jefferson School Building (Newell), Wells Junior High School Building (Newell) and James R. Norris residence (Concho).

Clay — Thelma Phillips residence (Hardins Run), John D. Herron's Justice of the Peace office, Pearl St. New Cumberland, Courthouse, Bambrick House (Ridge Ave.), and New Manchester School.

urer Orel J. Skeen and Richard P. Baylor of Hinton.

THREE DEMOCRATS are contesting the party's nomination to succeed Robertson as attorney general. They are State Senate President Howard W. Carson of Fayetteville, former Institutions Commissioner Chauncey Browning Jr. of Charleston and Frank M. Ellison of South Charleston, a former assistant attorney general. Contestants for the Republican nomination for agriculture commissioner are Nicholas M. Homes of Charleston, twice an unsuccessful nominee for the office, and ex-legislator Edward T. White of Union, a livestock farmer.

State Supreme Court Judge Fred H. Caplan, seeking Democratic renomination for a 12-year term, has run into a vigorous primary challenge by two-term Circuit Judge Kenneth K. Hall of Madison. The outcome may be close.

Contestants for the GOP nomination for the Supreme Court seat now held by Judge Caplan are Dennis R. Knapp of Nitro, judge of Kanawha County Common Pleas Court, and Huntington lawyer Merideth P. Wiswell.

Allies

had no figures on South Vietnamese casualties.

Troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade moved in to cover the withdrawal, and military spokesmen said more than 300 enemy soldiers were estimated to have been killed. They said an unknown additional number were killed in massive air strikes, including seven missions near the camp by Air Force B-52 bombers Sunday night and today.

Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand announced the victory over the enemy's main thrust against Saigon.

"Although isolated small attacks, terrorism and harassment by fire, including rockets, are still possible, large numbers of the enemy have been attempting to withdraw from the battlefield for the past 48 hours, many being intercepted in the process," said Weyand, who commands the 2nd Field Force, Cong. Lose 5,200.

The general said more than 5,200 enemy soldiers were killed or captured in the 3rd Corps Tactical Zone—Saigon and the 11 provinces around it—since the Viet Cong launched their offensive May 5. He said about half of these were lost in greater Saigon area. The remainder were killed or captured when their units were intercepted as they headed for Saigon.

Some military observers considered these casualty figures a highly optimistic estimate.

U.S. headquarters said allied losses were 210 killed, 67 of them Americans, and 979 wounded, including 333 Americans.

For the first time since May 5 there was no significant fighting in Saigon.

Weyand said at least 26 enemy battalions had been scheduled to attack Saigon but well over half of these were intercepted outside the capital military district.

An enemy battalion is supposed to number 400 to 500 men, but U.S. intelligence officers say the battalions in the Saigon area are far under strength.

Tet "Punch" Missing
The Communist command's second offensive lacked the punch of their lunar new year offensive in February, when five enemy battalions were reported committed to the Saigon fighting with 16 to 25 more battalions backing them up on the outskirts of the capital.

Viet Cong troops abandoned their last major foothold in Saigon, a bunker complex on the southern fringes of the city, and apparently went south this morning. Residents of the area fled from their huts two miles from the center of the capital last week, and U.S. troops and planes pounded it relentlessly since last Tuesday.

Paris

ments on Laos, made in 1962, "should be honored and its people should be left to the peaceful life they desire."

3. The people of South Vietnam, as a matter of principle, "must be allowed to determine their own future without outside interference."

4. The United States is prepared to join with "all the nations of Southeast Asia—and with others—in building a future with great promise for the people of the area."

In effect, this last point was a direct proposal for North Vietnam, once peace was established, to join in a U.S.-assisted development program.

Harriman reminded Xuan Thuy that President Johnson had stopped the bombing of North Vietnam above the 20th parallel on March 31, and had offered to halt the rest "if our restraint is matched by restraint on the other side."

"Since March 31," Harriman continued, "we have sought a sign that our restraint has been matched by the Democratic Republic of Vietnam. We cannot conceal our concern that our government has chosen to move substantial and increasing numbers of troops and supplies from the North to the South."

Moreover, your forces have continued to fire on our forces from and across the demilitarized zone.

Restraints Asked

"We ask what restraints you will take for your part to contribute to peace."

"We believe the Geneva accords of 1954 in their essential elements provide a basis for peace in Vietnam."

But Xuan Thuy accused the United States of having sabotaged the 1954 Geneva agreement from the start. He said the United States had destroyed

President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963 and put up a puppet government in his stead.

The meeting lasted three hours and the next meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday. Harriman's deputy, Cyrus R. Vance, then shook hands with Thuy and several other members of the North Vietnamese delegation.

The French government took precautions to make sure that the opening session would not be upset by a 24-hour general strike today on behalf of students demanding modernization of the government's educational policy.

Harriman and Thuy both served on the delegations to the 1962 Geneva Conference on Laos.

Many Problems Face

While the atmosphere of the meeting today was cordial, diplomats of both countries said privately that one of the many problems facing the negotiators in their "official conversations" was deep, mutual distrust between their governments.

U.S. officials had said they expected Thuy to open with an attack on the United States and to set forth Hanoi's demand that President Johnson stop the rest of the bombing of North Vietnam and "other acts of war" against his country. The demand has been made repeatedly by Hanoi broadcasts, including one Sunday.

Advance word was that Harriman would stress Johnson's readiness to lift the bombing if North Vietnam would make some showing of military restraint. The U.S. government claims that since Johnson limited the bombing on March 31,

Deaths and Funerals

Danny Call

Graveside services were held Saturday at 11 a.m. at Mill Creek Hill Cemetery, Hookstown, for Danny Call, day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Call of Shippingport.

The child was born in Rochester General Hospital Thursday and died Friday.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother, Charles R. Call Jr., and two sisters, Jennie Elaine Call and Tammy Lynn Call, all at home; the paternal grandparents, Jack Call of Monaca and Betty Call of Shippingport; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Horliss Chamberlain of Midland, and the paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Lenora McLane of Shippingport.

The Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown was in charge of arrangements.

Stephen R. Reed

Stephen Ross Reed, 68, of Shreve, Ohio, a former resident of Wellsville and Newell, died Sunday morning at Wooster

Community Hospital after a brief illness.

He was born at Sharon Center, Ohio, March 27, 1899, a son of the late John Reed and Loretta Andre Reed. He was a stationery engineer and was a retired employe of the former Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Laura Reed, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Joe Gordon, Seville, Ohio; two sons, Clide Reed of Parma and John Wilbur Reed of Lyndhurst; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Harple of Carrollton and Mrs. Elita Finnicum of Harlem Springs; eight grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren. He was preceded in death by two brothers.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Johnston Funeral Home in Shreve, by Dr. John Kindsvatter of the Zion Lutheran Church at Wooster. Burial will be in Mound Hill Cemetery, Seville.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Henry C. Miller

Henry C. Miller, 63, of 985 Main St., Wellsville, an employe at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp., died of an apparent heart attack while at work Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

He was born in Burgettstown Jan. 18, 1905, a son of the late Adam Miller and Margaret Kauffmann Miller. He worked in the structural shop at the Midland plant, where he was employed for 23 years. He belonged to the First Methodist Church of Wellsville and Steelworkers Local 1212.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Alice Madden Miller, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Joyce Lewis of Salineville and Mrs. Shirley Leatherberry of Wellsville; a son, Thomas Miller of Uniontown, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. James Apple of Decatur, Ga.; two brothers, William P. Miller of New Concord, Ohio, and Fred Miller of Elkins, W. Va., and six grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Haugh Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. Roger Kennedy. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Charles McGaffick

Charles A. McGaffick, 68, of Little Blue Rd., Georgetown, a former warehouseman, died Sunday at 6 p.m. at City Hospital after an illness of 18 months.

A native of Georgetown, Mr. McGaffick was born Jan. 24, 1900, a son of the late William J. McGaffick and Mary E. Hutchison McGaffick. He had resided in Georgetown his lifetime. For 10 years he worked at the former Riggs Co. here. He belonged to the Chester First Methodist Church. His wife, Mrs. Lula Wood McGaffick died in July 1943.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Helen) Dreier of East Liverpool; a brother, the Rev. Arch McGaffick of Georgetown, and four grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Randall Prince. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery, Chester.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Walter Young

SALINEVILLE — Services for Walter H. Young of Phoenix, a former Salineville resident, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Kerr Funeral Home.

The Rev. Harry Rose of the Goodyear Heights Presbyterian Church of Akron will officiate. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

Mr. Young died of a heart attack while he and his wife, Frances were on a fishing trip at Lake Roosevelt, near Phoenix, where they were vacationing.

A World War I veteran, he was born Dec. 14, 1895, in Wisconsin, but had resided in Salineville virtually his lifetime until nine years ago when he moved to Phoenix.

He was the son of the late Orin Young and Frances Faulkner Young. He belonged to the Calvary United Presbyterian Church and Masonic Lodge 342, both of Salineville. He was a 32nd degree Mason, being affiliated with the Steubenville group. He was a former member of the Brush Creek Grange and John Adams American Legion Post, both of Salineville.

He also is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Butters of Chicago, Mrs. Violet Brewer of Richland Center, Wis., and Mrs. Josie LeMoine of Reedsburg, Wis., six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Friends may call Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon and night at the funeral home, where Masonic services will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Ernest Horton

SALEM — Services will be held here Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home for Mrs. Nellie W. Horton, 59, of 1091 E. 9th St., a Salem schoolteacher who died of complications Saturday at Cleveland Clinic. She had undergone surgery Wednesday.

Mrs. Horton was born in East Palestine, coming to Salem as a child.

Friends may call tonight from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

Goff Stone

Services for Goff Stone of Ft. Myers, Fla., formerly of East Liverpool, were held this afternoon at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Arthur Williams of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church.

Burial was to be in Columbi-ana County Memorial Park.

Mr. Stone died Saturday morning at Lee Memorial Hospital in Ft. Myers.

Margaret Gromow

Mrs. Margaret Gromow, 100, formerly of 1st Ave., died Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at City Hospital. She had been a patient at the Nettwerk Nursing Home the last nine years.

She was born in Beaver County March 17, 1868, but had resided in East Liverpool since 1934. She at one time was a member of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church.

Her only survivors are nieces.

Services will be held Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Arthur Williams. Burial will be in the New Salem Cemetery at Ohioville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Mrs. Ethel McCarrell

Mrs. Ethel M. McCarrell, 87, of Frankfort Springs, widow of David S. McCarrell, died Saturday at 10 p.m. at Oakmont United Presbyterian Home in Pittsburgh after a long illness.

She was born in Hookstown Feb. 24, 1881. She taught school for 40 years in the Hookstown and Frankfort Springs areas. She was a member of the Frankfort Springs Presbyterian Church, Hookstown Grange and Eastern Star Chapter 393 of Kiefer, Okla., and the National Retired Teachers Association.

Her only survivors are nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown. Burial will be in Clinton (Pa.) Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

The Martin Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

3 Windows Smashed At Garfield Building

Three windows were broken at Garfield School by vandals during the night.

City police were notified of the damage at 6:10 a.m. today by Walter Lunger, custodian.

Lunger told officers he had checked the building Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The windows on the east side were broken with stones. An air rifle also is believed to have been used.

Abel

may set a path for others to follow.

Kluz, master of ceremonies, paid tribute to Local 1212 for being hosts. He thanked the committee for their work.

In introducing Abel, he said, "He no longer walks in the shadow of great men, but casts the shadow."

Gifts were presented to Kluz and Abel by Lona and Joe Krivan subdistrict director. Abel was presented a painting from Crucible and the Midland merchants. It was painted by Jo Chuldenko, local artist.

The invocation was given by Father Stephen Burdis, pastor of Presentation Church. The dinner was served by the St. Anthony Auxiliary. The George Churma Group played music during dinner.

flooded abandoned shaft known as the McKenzie mine, C.E. Richardson, Maust president, said.

Fifteen of the men were rescued early Saturday after five days entombment. Ten miners are missing and presumed dead.

Heart

Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston, is the man listed in serious condition. But a spokesman said: "His dramatic recovery from the desperate operation last Tuesday and steady improvement are considered to be encouraging."

Cooley's other surviving patient, Everett C. Thomas, 47, is eating a normal diet and walking in his private room. Thomas, a Phoenix, Ariz., accountant, received a new heart May 3 from a 15-year-old housewife who died of a gunshot wound in the head.

The world's other two heart transplant survivors are Dr. Philip Blalberg, 58, living at home in Cape Town, South Africa, 4½ months after his operation, and Frederick West, 45, whose operation was May 3 in London.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

A Hearing Loss Requires Specialist

Q — I lost my hearing overnight about three months ago. My doctor says this was caused by a blood clot in my inner ear.

How long does this usually last? Will my hearing be completely restored?

A — Although blood clots are gradually absorbed in two to four weeks, depending on their size, the flow of blood through the obstructed vessel will not be re-established if the walls of the blood vessel are hardened or thickened. For this reason no time limit for your hearing loss can be given. An ear specialist should determine the type of hearing loss and best treatment.

Dr. Brandstadt

Q — Does a pinpoint puncture of the ear drum cause the ear to become entirely deaf?

A — No. Even a large hole will not do this if the three tiny bones of hearing, located in your inner ear, have not been immobilized by infection. The hole will however, serve as an added gateway for infection in your middle ear.

Q — I have heard that listening to rock 'n' roll music for a long time, and played very loud, will deafen a person. Is this true?

A — This is a matter of loudness plus duration. Noise of any type, if it reaches 100 decibels for a few minutes, may cause some temporary loss of hearing. Continued for over an hour it may cause permanent loss in some ranges.

Q — If I press my thumb on my ankle, it will leave a dent as if I were pressing bread dough. Is this dropsy?

A — This type of waterlogging is called pitting edema. Dropsy is an older name for it. It usually disappears at night when the legs are elevated to the same level as the heart.

Q — What causes retention of fluid in the tissues? My health is excellent and my doctor says I have nothing wrong with my heart or kidneys.

A — The commonest causes after valvular heart disease and kidney disease have been ruled out are varicose veins, pernicious anemia, leukemia, hookworm disease, thyroid deficiency, cirrhosis of the liver and prolonged treatment with drugs of the cortisone group.

Q — In the winter I sleep under an electric blanket. Would this cause my skin to be very dry?

A — No, but the Sahara — dry air in a steam-heated apartment would cause your skin to be dry.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

GOP Governors Urged To Wait For Rockefeller

By BILL BOYARSKY
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — One of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's top advisers is talking privately to Western Republican governors here, seeking to stop Richard M. Nixon from staking a claim in the West in his race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Leonard Hall, former Republican national chairman, conferred with California Gov. Ronald Reagan—himself a potential nominee—and others of the 11 Republican chief executives at the Western Governors Conference.

"Just social calls," said Hall, who roamed through the convention hotel on the beach at Waikiki dressed in a Hawaiian shirt, the uniform of this meeting.

Thirteen state chief executives and the governors of American Samoa and Guam began four days of meetings on such Western problems as resources, transportation, economic development, land management and water.

As usual, however, gubernatorial political talks attracted as much attention as the morning and afternoon meetings on state problems.

Hall told a reporter that he doesn't believe former Vice President Nixon's support is as solid as his supporters claim.

While Hall said he didn't specifically urge Western governors to refuse to back Nixon, he said he believed most would "stay loose" until just before the convention, rather than sign up in the Nixon camp.

Springfield Man Dies After Tavern Shooting

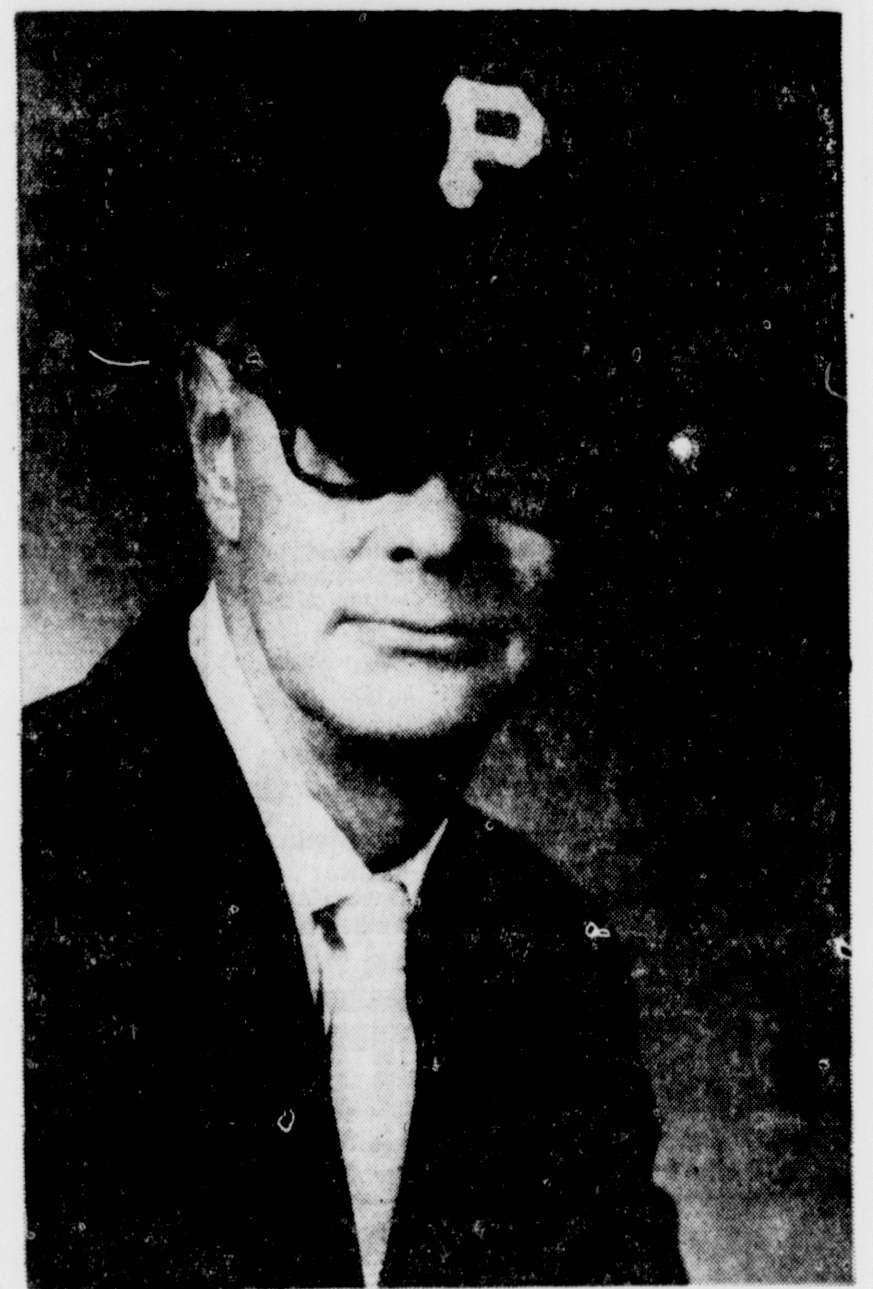

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Sterling Groseclose, 39, an employee of the Clark County engineer's department, was shot to death in a bar here Saturday night.

Authorities said they were questioning a 37-year-old man with whom Groseclose had argued. The victim was the father of three teenagers.

Bob Prince says: "You'll think you've stolen third"

6 Seek Hancock Board Posts In Tuesday's Voting

Incumbent Hancock County Board of Education members John P. Jones of New Cumberland and Dr. J. M. Brand of Chester are opposed for reelection by four other candidates in Tuesday's election.

Dale E. Highfield, James A. Jordan and Ernest John of Chester and William B. Murray of New Cumberland are seeking the two posts.

Highfield, 48, of Fairview Rd., is an employee of Patterson Industries; John, 66, of 528 Carolina Ave., is a retired principal of Jefferson School at Newell.

Jordan, 42, of 638 Louisiana Ave., is an attorney in Chester; Murray, 50, of Ridge Ave., is assistant supervisor of technical development of the Weirton Steel, Quality Control Department.

The two six-year terms will end Dec. 31. Voting will be held on separate nonpartisan ballots.

City Youth Hit By Baseball, Others Treated At Hospital

A city boy injured playing baseball and a Wellsville area woman hurt in an auto accident in Warren were admitted Sunday to City Hospital, where 16 were treated.

Neil Claypool, son of Howard Claypool of 635 Montgomery Ave., is "satisfactory" today with a concussion suffered Sunday when struck by a baseball.

Mrs. Dorsey Marple of Wellsville RD 1 is "fair" with a right ankle injury suffered in an accident earlier at Warren.

TREATED Sunday were William A. Gray, son of Leonard Gray of Hookstown RD 1, a contusion of the right elbow in a fall while skating; Mrs. Paul Nelson of 520 Grant St., Newell, a laceration of the scalp in a fall on steps at home.

Maynard Baker of New Cumberland RD 1, an employee of Hillcrest Farms, Chester, a left hand injury on machinery at work; Nick Kalinski of Waterford Park, employed as a groom, contusions and abrasions of the left shoulder when kicked by a horse.

Robert Canton of 1913 Michigan Ave., a left leg injury on a knife while laying linoleum at home; Daniel Shultz, son of Mrs. Betty Schultz of 400 8th St., Wellsville, a laceration of the right foot on a broken bottle.

Wilmont Grimm, son of Wilmont Grimm of 709 Commerce St., Wellsville, a laceration of the forehead on a rock while fishing; Bruce Ronshausen, son of Hillis Ronshausen of 616 and lacerations of the left knee and abrasions of the left hand when thrown by a pony.

TREATED Saturday were a father and son, John Albanese

Memorial Rites Planned As Part Of 'Police Week'

City police today said a special memorial service will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. in front of City Hall marking the local observance of National Police Week, which opened Sunday.

Patrolman Kenneth Buckley is in charge of the program. Paul Lemal, a former patrolman, will be honored. A wreath will be placed at the honor roll.

Peace Talks Hold Future Of Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 20,000 Army, Air Force and Navy Reservists and National Guardsmen—about half of them Vietnam-bound—answer President Johnson's call to active duty today.

How long they stay in uniform will depend at least partly on the course of U.S.-North Vietnam talks beginning today in Paris. They could be held on active duty for up to two years.

The course of the peace talks may also determine whether any more citizen soldiers and sailors will be called up. Pentagon officials said no decision has been reached on any further muster of Reservists.

Acting on Johnson's orders, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford announced April 11 that about 24,500 reservists were being ordered to active duty. They were given 30 days to arrange their affairs before putting on their uniforms.

Clifford said about 10,000 of the Reservists and Guardsmen would be sent to Vietnam to provide needed support troops and the rest would help fill out the badly depleted central force of fighting men kept in the United States for possible use worldwide.

Last week, about 1,250 Air Force and Air Guard troops were excused from active service because it was found regular Air Force units could provide the support functions the Reservists had been designated to fill.

This reduced the over-all callup total to about 23,300. Nearly 20,000 report today. They form some 87 units in 34 states.

Another 3,600 individual Reservists from the Army ready reserve manpower pool will show up for active duty starting June 15, the Pentagon said. These men will fill out the ranks of understrength units called to active duty.

The new callup brings to more than 38,000 the number of Reservists and Guardsmen ordered to active duty since January.

Dislikes New Law

PORTSMOUTH, England — Dr. John Phillips, Anglican bishop of Portsmouth, has resigned from presidency of the local Family Planning Association because of recent permissive legislation making contraceptives available to everyone. The new law assumed that only pregnancy or contraception was the choice, he said. Nowhere was there any sign that a third choice, chastity, might be considered.

Obliging Computer

DENVER (AP) — A Denver housewife, a note with her check to the motor vehicle license bureau, asking if she couldn't be given an automobile license number that is easy to remember. To her delight, she received one reading "AD 8888." Later, the bureau returned her letter with a mimeographed form stating the numbers were chosen by computers and no attention could be paid to individual request.

7 Are Injured As Autos Ram

Seven were injured as the result of a head-on collision near East Palestine Sunday at 3:15 a.m., the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reports.

"Fairly good" at Salem City Hospital are passengers in a 1964 coach operated by Chester McGath, 18, of W. Main St. East Palestine — Robert Means Jr., 21, of Swansboro, N. C., fractured nose and possible fractured right wrist and concussion; Linda Pedras, 22, of Garfield Ave., East Palestine, abrasions of both legs and possible head and chest injury; and Patricia Dunn, 19, of S. Market St., East Palestine, possible chest and head injury.

Also injured in the McGath auto and in "fair" condition are McGath, dislocated hip and fractured ribs, and Dennis Elkins, 21, of Beaver Falls, RD 1, laceration of the forehead and upper lip and possible injuries of the back.

In "fairly good" condition are Donald Morris, 23, of Darlington, operator of the second car, possible head and chest injuries, and a passenger in his 1966 sedan, William Wheeler, 39, of Naugle Rd., Beaver Falls, laceration of the chin and upper nose.

Officers said the mishap, which still is under investigation, occurred on County Rd. 450, two miles north of Route 46, when the McGath auto, southbound, collided with the northbound Morris auto.

Stock Market Opens With Slight Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—Advances outnumbered declines at the opening of the stock market Monday, but softness in blue chips dragged at the average. Trading was active.

Opening prices included: Ling-Temco-Vought, up 1 1/2 at 129; Martin-Marietta, up 1/4 at 22 3/4; Air Reduction, up 1/4 at 30 1/4; Occidental Petroleum, off 1/4 at 43 1/4; Armco Steel, up 3/4 at 47 1/4; General Electric, off 1/4 at 91 1/4; and Great A&P, off 1/4 at 18.

On Friday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 7 to 329 5/8.

Two Calls Answered By Chester Firemen

Chester firemen were called to the Celotex Corp. plant Sunday at 11 a.m. to extinguish hot asphalt which sprayed from a split pipe leading to a tank.

Firemen used their new Jet-X high expansion foam to put out the flames. Seventeen men answered the call and were on the scene an hour.

Saturday at 9:50 p.m., firemen received a call for oxygen for a youngster on Pyramus St.

Personalities In The News

BELMONT, N.C. (AP) — John Paul Habiger says he and his wife had an understanding that the survivor of their marriage would give his life to the Lord.

His wife, Mildred, died in 1963, shortly after both of their sons, John Jr. and Henry Louis, had begun studies for the Catholic priesthood.

Habiger followed them into the seminary, and all three soon will complete their studies at Belmont Abbey at Belmont.

They are from Salina, Kan., and will be ordained at St. Benedict's Abbey in Atchison, Kan., on June 14.

Habiger was an oil well driller, a sales manager and a real estate appraiser before studying for the priesthood.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Rhonda Cook, 11, who lost a leg last week in a traffic accident, had a special visitor Sunday: Television and recording star Davey Jones of The Monkees.

"He flew in here in an airplane, and the first thing he did was give me a kiss," said Rhonda.

da, "and it was nice. It was like nothing else."

Jones learned from a newspaper story that Rhonda was carrying the Monkees' latest record album when struck by a pickup truck while crossing a street.

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Topless dancer Vicky Drake has topped wearing see-through blouses and donned a more serious image on the eve of student body elections at Stanford University.

Last week the blonde, who measures 38-22-36, led all primary candidates with 1,575 votes.

Miss Drake, 22, a Spanish literature major last term, is not now a student but says she plans to enroll again next fall.

In her bid for victory she has offered to join in a tea with Mrs. Wallace Sterling, wife of the university president. The elections are Tuesday and Wednesday.

Self-Styled Seer

BEIRA, Mozambique — A self-styled astrologer named Dr. Rakar says a cure for cancer will be found this year, a manned moon voyage will be made and that Lisbon will experience a light earthquake. Dr. Rakar said he had foreseen the devaluation of the British pound sterling and the Middle East crisis in 1967.

Actor Needs Coaching

HONOLULU — Actor Richard Boone testified in the Hawaii State Legislature recently against a bill that would exempt film companies from paying portions of state taxes. Before testifying, Boone asked news reporters how he should act and what he should say. "This is different from theater," the veteran actor said.

Choir Holds Event

Reigns At Dance

Miss Cindy McElhane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. McElhane of 135 Reynolds St., is crowned queen of the annual East Liverpool High School Choir formal Friday night at the IBOP hall near Williamsport, by Sam Scott, president of the ELHS Concert Choir.

Her attendants were Linda Goodballet, Cindy Purton, Debbie Emmerling and Louis McHenry.

The event was sponsored by the ELHS Choir Parents Association, with William E. Gaston president. The theme of the dance was "Carousel of Daisies." Music for dancing was by the "Sound Barriers" of Salem.

Mrs. Frankie Harris is choir director.

Chester Fete Attracts 145

Some 145 attended the mother-daughter banquet of the Chester First Christian Church Friday night in Fellowship Hall.

Miss Patricia Swisher was general chairman.

Dinner was served at 6 by men of the congregation, with the food prepared by a committee comprised of Mrs. Pearl Wilson, chairman, Mrs. Lester Kirschler, Mrs. Martha Reed, Mrs. Bessie Hood, Mrs. Lucille Beatty and Mrs. Mabel Six.

Miniature mother and daughter dolls centered the tables, with a green and yellow color scheme featured.

Mrs. Lynn Murray and Mrs. Carol Smith arranged the decorations.

The welcome was given by Miss Jorjai Staley and the response by her mother, Mrs. Pat Staley.

The program included a skit, "Little Mothers," Andrea Six, Lee Ann Bryan, Denise Yeater and Suzanne McKinzie; reading, Miss Lois Sayre; song, Tammy Davis, Debbie Smith, Penny Boggs and Terri Hobbs; skit, "School Days," Mrs. Jessie Hobbs, Miss Twyla Sayre, Mrs. Frances McDonald, Mrs. Irma Myers, Mrs. Edna Huff, Mrs. Freda Covert, Mrs. Rosemary Miller, Mrs. Kathryn Murray, Mrs. Mildred Haney, Miss Judy Boggs, Miss Moira Bond, Miss Debbie Beatty, Miss Terry Cook, Miss Linda Price, Miss Penny Spurlock and Mrs. Pamela Moore.

Special awards were presented Mrs. Garnet Pinney and Mrs. Lora Kell.

Group singing was accompanied by Miss Terry Fox. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Faye Davis.

Mrs. Edna Hulme, Mrs. Betty Gray, Mrs. Betty Bryan and Mrs. June Cozart were in charge of registration.

Auto Vandalism Cases Increase

Four more cases of auto vandalism attributed to a high-power pellet gun were reported to city police over the weekend.

Police received word early Saturday from three city residents that the window glasses of their cars were damaged by pellets and later four more residents reported the same thing.

All apparently occurred late Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Reporting the latest incidents were Frank Kreefer of 851 Pennsylvania Ave., a broken door glass on the right side of his 1963 sedan; Leo Pearson of 1051 Pennsylvania Ave., broken left front door glass and left window vent; Tony Adkins of 1907 Michigan Ave., two left windows shattered on a station wagon; and Timothy McColla of 1017 Ambrose Ave., broken window vent.

The three earlier reports were from East End residents. Leona Swiger of 411 E. 4th St. told police Saturday morning someone threw a brick at her house about 1 a. m., breaking two windows.

Sea creatures are extremely adept at extracting chemicals from the ocean. The element vanadium was not known to exist in sea water until it was discovered in the blood of tunicates and sea cucumbers. Iodine is rather scarce in ocean water, but seaweeds contain vast amounts of it.

Police Hunt For Car Stolen Over Weekend

Police are searching for a 1962 blue Chevrolet stolen from a parking place some time Saturday night or early Sunday morning. They also received another "stolen car" report over the weekend, but the vehicle was discovered just a few minutes after the broadcast.

Earl A. Tweed of 115 E. 3rd St. told police he parked his car Saturday midnight in the Woodbine parking lot and found it missing at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

The four-door sedan also has blue wheels and the fender on the left rear is dented. The license is L-1490-A.

John W. Young of Shadyside Ave. told police Sunday at 12:30 a.m. his car was missing from a parking spot on Dresden Ave., but a few minutes later the car was found on St. Clair Ave. by Lt. Paul Burson.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Shoe On Movie's Foot

"In these last 20 years we have seen a great betrayal of TV. Once there was a time when screen writers envied their counterparts on television. If they can do it on 'Studio 1,' why can't we do it in the theaters?"

"Now the complaint has been painfully reversed. Now the film writers are encouraged to break out to the new, while the television writers are locked into the old."

Those very true words were spoken by Michael Blankfort, president of the Writers Guild of America West, at its recent awards banquet.

WHAT MAKES THEM more ironic, as producer Martin Manulis points out, is the fact that it was TV 15 years ago which shook up the movie magnates and started the movie revolution.

Not only were the screen writers and movie producers envious of their TV colleagues, but they hired many of them to adapt many of the same TV plays to the movies — i.e., "Patterns," "Twelve Angry Men," "Days of Wine and Roses," and so on.

Manulis and former TV writer Tad Mosel returned to CBS temporarily where they prepared a CBS Playhouse drama, "Secrets," for airing Wednesday.

It is Manulis' first-time back to TV in 10 years since he left "Playhouse 90." Mosel, who has been writing for movies and the stage, hadn't written anything for TV since 1962.

"UNTIL CBS asked me to write something for CBS Playhouse, there was nowhere in TV for me to go," says Mosel. "I can't write for the series with the locked-in characters."

Manulis and Mosel are only two of many producers and writers who made the exodus from TV when, as Manulis says, anthology became a dirty word in TV.

"The kind of TV we did for 'Playhouse 90' doesn't exist any more. It never came up high enough in the ratings, or so I was told," Manulis adds. "Of course, TV has done bad Westerns which have failed, too, but nobody ever said the western format was dead."

What the network TV toppers never realized was that a great many viewers left TV as a regular pastime, too, when the weekly anthology dramas disappeared. There was nothing left to grab the attention of the drama fans.

"WHY SHOULD most things on TV be for my small son?" asks Manulis. "I hardly ever watch now unless it's with him."

Surveys taken independently of TV have shown that better-educated and higher-income groups have quit watching TV regularly, if at all. To some extent this information finally penetrated the inner TV sanctums and the executives made noises about reviving good drama.

CBS started with a special adaptation of "Death of a Salesman," and was so surprised at the rating the play got that it set aside a $500,000 fund for writers to do original things for a few CBS Playhouse dramas.

"It takes no courage to put on 'Death of a Salesman,'" says Mosel.

AH, BUT IT DID for CBS, which wasn't sure it could sell it to a sponsor, and then reportedly lost money on it. All three networks are so wedded to turning an increased profit each year that they prefer the gimmick shows which get them higher mass ratings, and which therefore are easier to lure sponsors to.

The movie producers, on the other hand, are doing bigger business since they've made more mature movies, but they have an accurate audience count at the boxoffice, which unfortunately the TV networks don't have. They have to go by the Nielsen rating guessing game.

Manulis suggested that maybe TV will go full cycle and come back to "live" or "live-on-tape" TV because it will ultimately become cheaper to do than the film shows. That would be TV's only incentive to return to the anthology drama series.

ANYWAY, it's good to have Manulis and Mosel back in TV for one play, and they've already been asked by CBS to do another Playhouse next season. Theirs is the fourth of the current season, and the last. Four or five are planned for the next one.

Meanwhile, according to Writers Guild president Blankfort, the myth has been created that there are two audiences — one mature, which goes to movies, and the other consisting of idiots, that stays home and watches TV.

Death Claims Widow Of Ohio Industrialist

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Page Ellyson Stranahan, 79-year-old widow of Robert A. Stranahan. She died Saturday.

Her husband, who died four years ago, was a cofounder and chairman of the Champion Spark Plug Co. Mrs. Stranahan was active in charitable and philanthropic projects and was a widely known horsewoman and golfer in the 1930s.

She was the mother of Frank Stranahan, a leading golfer who, won the British Amateur championship in 1950.

Ohio Lists 6 Road Deaths

By The Associated Press

Six persons were killed in two accidents Sunday, boosting Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to 18.

Two brothers and their wives were killed when their auto collided Sunday morning with another car at a junction seven miles west of Piqua.

Killed were Douglas L. Proctor, his wife, Carolyn, and Stephen T. Proctor, 24, and his wife, Julia Ann, all of German-town.

A man and a woman were killed Sunday night when the car in which they were riding rammed another car six miles northeast of Ravenna. The victims were William Chappell, 21, Glenshaw, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Jane Dalton, 20, Wooster.

The death toll — counted from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday — compared to 15 for the previous weekend. Other victims included:

Saturday
Peter Verbofsky, 23, Wheeling, W. Va., when his car skidded into a guard rail on Interstate 71 in Columbus.
Jack Pelfery, 24, Springfield, injured Friday night in a three-car collision on U.S. 62 south of Leesburg in Highland County.

Lawrence Ronu, 19, Toledo, in a one-car crash two miles north of Waterville in Lucas County.

Elmer Sommer, 63, Cleveland, when struck by a car as he crossed a Cleveland street.

Sunday
Vicky Robbins, 20, Canton, when the car in which she was riding crashed on Ohio 8 two miles north of Mineral City in Tuscarawas County.

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—William E. Jones, 11, Xenia, drowned Sunday when he fell into the Oentangy River here while trying to retrieve a fishing pole which had slipped from his hands.

Ohioans Join Poor March, Move North

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Midwest segment of the Poor People's Campaign headed for Detroit today, a bit weary but still determined after a circuitous weekend swing by chartered buses through Ohio.

It was not known how many Ohioans joined up with the caravan, whose destination is Washington where poor people from across the nation will press Congress for demands for more jobs and more welfare money. The group spent Sunday night here.

But the number of participants, mostly young Negroes, was considerably below the predicted figure. An estimated 500 persons arrived in Toledo Sunday after spending Saturday night in Columbus.

Campaign leaders said some 225 persons joined the caravan in Cincinnati, an overnight stop Friday, and about 35 others joined in Dayton. Others joined in Columbus and Toledo. The remaining were from other Midwestern states.

The caravan goes to Cleveland Tuesday and also will make stops at Akron and possibly Canton before heading for Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Rev. A. D. King, brother of the late Martin Luther King Jr., rejoined the group here after becoming ill in Cincinnati Friday night.

King told a rally at Scott Fieldhouse, "On the foreign battle fields we have enough money, but we don't have enough money to fight on the shores of America. There's something wrong."

Columbus Man Jailed

For Beating Newsman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police are holding a man accused of assaulting television photographer Jack Marsh of WTVN-TV following a student meeting at Ohio State University April 30.

Arthur Odell Diggs, 29, Columbus, turned himself in Saturday and was ordered held under $5,000 bond at a hearing before Municipal Court Judge Clifford Radar. An assault and battery charge usually requires $25 bond, but Radar said he set a higher bond because he considers beating a newsman to be a serious charge.

MISS SHAPELY of 1968 is title won by "Cricket" Ault, 19, of St. Petersburg, Fla. The brown-eyed Sunken Gardens model is 5 feet 5, weighs 117 pounds and measures 37-24-37.

Rep. Moore Lists 1957-67 Income

CHARLESTON (AP) — Rep. Arch Moore said during the weekend he had a net taxable income of $115,264 between 1957-1967.

Moore, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, had been challenged several times in recent months to release his tax returns by Cecil Underwood, a chief rival for the nomination.

The record was prepared by Price Waterhouse and Co. of Wheeling, a public accountant firm. The company said the report had been prepared without audit and was based solely on copies of joint returns submitted by Moore and his wife.

The report showed Moore's congressional salary for the ten year period, less expenses was $98,925. It indicated Moore reaped $85,047 from his law practice—again less expenses.

ANN LANDERS

Tip To Dutiful Daughters

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter for "Dutiful Daughter Eve." I hope it's not too late for her.

I was also a Dutiful Daughter. My dear mother never drew a healthy breath that I can remember. When her two sons left the nest, her "frail" health kept Father chained to her side. When Father died, the duty fell on me.

No man I dated was "suitable." Tom did not come from a background worthy of mine. Dick was after my money. Harry was too handsome and would be a constant worry to me.

So I had a series of lovers — four to be exact. One lasted for several years. I don't recommend this non-solution.

One day I realized I was 50 years old and Mother still had her hooks into me. She had to have the last word on my clothes, my hairstyle, my friends. I finally asked myself, "When am I going to be allowed to do as I please?" The answer was NEVER.

Mother is now 93. I'm 60. She's in a nursing home and I visit her every day.

While this story is tragic, it is also hilarious because the joke is on me. I told myself through the years it was all my mother's fault that I was unable to marry, but I realize now my mother was not entirely to blame. I know now I must have been a little wacky to have allowed her to do this to me. — EVE NUMBER 11.

By

Ann

Landers

Dear Eve: Your insight and evaluation are superb. It's too bad you learned so late. Thanks for sharing.

Big Break-Out

Dear Ann: Whenever my sister-in-law comes over I start to sneeze my head off, my eyes itch and my nose begins to run. This started about six months ago right after she borrowed my satin evening coat and someone burned a cigaret hole in it. (Not her fault, of course, but not mine either.)

I don't think I'm harboring any deep-seated feelings of hatred for Mildred, but I admit I have never felt the same toward her since. My husband suggested to me that I'm allergic to Mildred. Is it possible? Last night we had dinner together and the itching and sneezing were worse than ever; plus I broke out with hives. Please explain this if you can. — SPOOKED.

Dear Spoked? There's a chance that you're allergic to Mildred in the sense that your emotional reaction to her presence is producing the annoying physical symptoms.

There's also the chance that you're allergic to her perfume or hairspray. Tests can determine the latter. See a physician who specializes in allergies. And good luck to you.

Executive Manners

Dear Ann: I think you're all wet about telephone etiquette. According to you a person should always identify himself when he makes a telephone call. I say it's nobody's business who's calling except the person to whom the call is placed. Especially do I hate it when some little kid says, "Who is this?" — forgetting the "please."

Another beef: "I'm an executive and I frequently call other business executives and they call me. Some of the big shots are too important to place their own calls. They have their secretaries do it. When I get a call from a secretary who says, "Mr. Whatchamacallit wants to speak to you," I always say, "Well, tell him to call me then" and I hang up.

You are getting dumber by the day, Ann Landers. Why don't you retire? — BACK BAY COLONEL.

Dear Back: You sound like a terribly sweet man. Call me up sometime.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

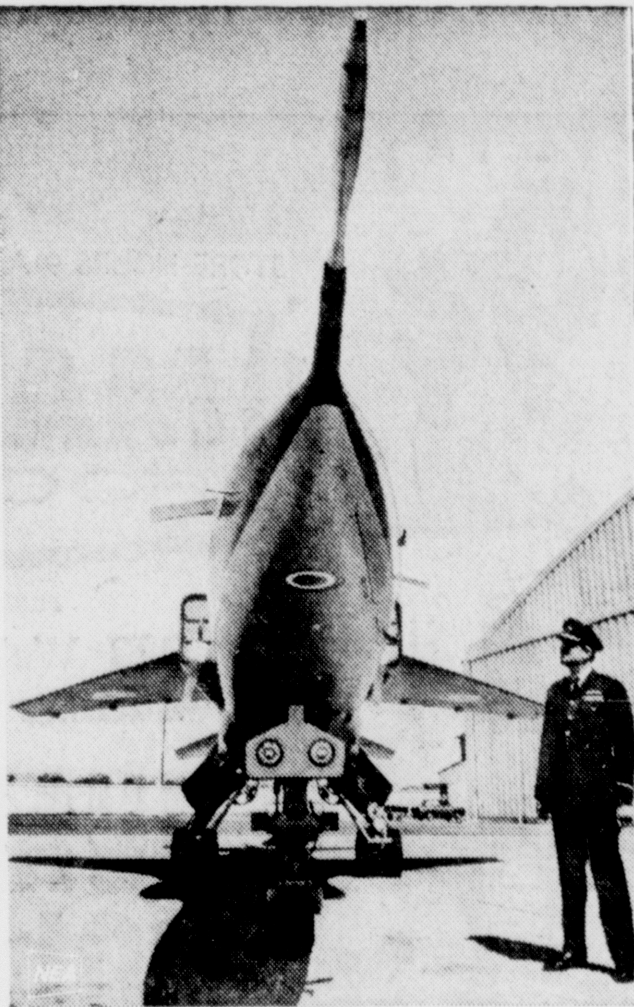

Ohio State Receives Flying Meet Honors

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State came in first, San Jose State second and Ohio University third Saturday in the National Intercollegiate Flying Association's 20th annual meet. Terry Timmer of Ohio U. was judged the top male pilot and Patricia Cleary of the University of Dayton the top woman pilot. Some 300 student pilots from 35 colleges and universities participated in the three-day meet to display their flying skills.

Air Facility Renamed In Honor Of Grissom

GRISSOM AIR FORCE BASE, Ind. (AP) — Bunker Hill AFB was renamed Sunday in honor of pioneer spaceman Virgil I. Grissom, who died in a spacecraft fire last year at Cape Kennedy.

About 35,000 persons were on hand at the Strategic Air Command base for the dedication. Members of the Grissom family were among them.

READY for testing is the Anglo-French Jaguar, a jet fighter plane being inspected here by British Air Vice Marshall W. D. Hodgkinson, assistant chief of air staff of the Royal Air Force. The aircraft is scheduled to be put through its paces in June.

Irvis Plans Bill For Negotiating Teacher Issues

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Minority Whip K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, says he plans to introduce Tuesday a bill calling for mandatory collective bargaining for Pennsylvania's public school teachers.

Moreover, Irvis said he also would introduce a second bill that would permit local school districts to voluntarily pay teachers who went on strike during a wage dispute.

Irvis, in a weekend statement, said the two measures were "of extreme importance."

The collective bargaining legislation, Irvis said, would give teachers the right to select by majority vote an agent to represent them in contract talks. School directors would be required to negotiate with that agent.

The bill would not, however, provide for binding arbitration, except by agreement of both parties in labor disputes.

Irvis said the proposal on voluntarily pay in strike situations would not force school boards to pay teachers who refuse to work.

"The present rigid law on striking teachers requires that the school districts withhold the pay," Irvis said. "Our new bill would not force the school districts to pay teachers who go on strike, but would permit them to do so if they desire."

Ruling Due In Death Of Prisoner At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Prosecutor James Barbuto of Summit County may rule today on the fatal shooting early Sunday of Timothy Norman Graber, 21, of Cuyahoga Falls. Graber was blasted by a shotgun charge fired by a security guard, Ellis Himerwaugh.

Police said Himerbaugh told them he fired when he saw Graber breaking a glass window to enter the Buckeye Sport Center in Northampton Township on Ohio 8 northeast of here.

Music Department Sets Beaver Local Program

The Beaver Local Music Department will present several informal "Mini Concerts" in the court yard of the high school May 24.

Participating will be the Beaver Local Stage Band, the High School Choir, Junior High Band and the High School Concert Band.

The public is invited to enjoy the music, while eating dinner, which will be served from 6 to 8. The first concert will be at 8:30. The program will end at 8:30.

The audience will be invited to join the choir in the singing of "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" at the close of the choir concert. Children under 5 will be admitted free and those over 5 will be charged a small fee, the sponsors said.

Robert Sprague is high school band and choir director and John Huebert is Junior High Band director.

Police Investigate Beating Of Boy Here

Police are investigating the alleged attack by two youths on a third Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Joyce Morrow of 760 Woodlawn Ave. told police her son, Roger L. Morrow, 14, was struck by a stick or board shortly after he left the State Theater.

The boy said two boys had attempted to start a fight with him inside the theater. They waited outside and followed him as he started for home, he replied.

Morrow was taken to City Hospital in a cruiser and treated for a bruise behind the right ear.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C., was founded with British scientist James Smithson's bequest of over $500,000. The illegitimate son of the first duke of Northumberland never visited the United States and it is not known what motivated his generous gift, except that the conditions of his birth may have alienated him from England.

Police Told Of Thefts From 3 Autos Here

Two East Liverpool residents reported the theft of batteries from their vehicles over the weekend, while another reported the loss of several items from his car.

Ted Davis of 307 E. 2nd St. told police Saturday that someone removed the battery from his car while it was parked in front of his home during the night.

Everett Athey of 701 E. 4th St. also reported the theft of a battery from his 1953 panel truck in front of his home.

Terry Hoffman of 519 E. 4th St. told officers someone broke into his car and removed two coats, a novelty turn signal set and a wallet containing his driver's license and other papers.

Humphrey Bonus Looms In Nebraska's Primary

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, an election favorite who won't admit it, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy stage their final hunt for votes today in Nebraska's Democratic presidential primary—which could hold a political bonus for Hubert H. Humphrey.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, a Republican, said the vice president could poll a substantial write-in vote in Tuesday's Democratic showdown. Cross-over voting is not permitted.

And the governor said he expects to see Richard M. Nixon capture 70 per cent of the vote in a Republican race which holds little suspense.

Windup Scheduled

New York's Kennedy and Minnesota's McCarthy planned a series of campaign sessions between Lincoln and Omaha to wind up their second primary election clash in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination. Kennedy won the initial test, in Indiana last Tuesday.

Their names are on the Nebraska election ballot along with that of President Johnson, who spurned another race for the White House too late to have it removed.

Kennedy has pulled the larger crowds, and is rated a likely Nebraska winner by most Democratic politicians and surveys. But the senator is trying to dampen such talk.

He scoffs at surveys indicating he will take over half the Democratic vote. "How can I get 50 per cent with four of us in the race?" he asked Sunday as his campaign plane flew over western Nebraska.

In Indiana, Kennedy won with 42 per cent of the vote. Mc-Carthy polled 27 per cent. The rest went to Gov. Roger D. Branigin, a favorite son.

McCarthy Expects Loss

McCarthy all but conceded the election in advance. He has forecast a Kennedy showing of something over 40 per cent, with about 30 per cent of the vote in his own column. He chose to campaign in Oregon and California in the waning days of the Nebraska race, calling them key tests in the primary races for the nomination.

He picked up his Nebraska campaign Sunday—and said in McCook that a victory here would help him in those later primaries.

Nixon's opposition in the Republican race consists of California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is on the ballot but says he isn't running for the presidency, and a miniature write-in movement for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a candidate not on the ballot. Perennial candidate Harold Stassen and a Nebraska cowboy named Americus Liberator also are on the GOP ballot.

Tiemann said that with Johnson's name on the ballot, votes for the President could logically be assumed to be votes sympathetic to Humphrey.

Humphrey held a session with about 40 candidates for seats at the Democratic National Convention Saturday.

Mrs. Florene Broderick used the theme "Courage" during installation of officers when the Hillcrest - Fairview Parent Teachers Association met Thursday night in the school. She also read a poem.

Assuming office were: Thomas Wilkison, president; Mrs. Lois Hudson, first vice president; Samuel Linger, principal; second vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, secretary, and Ronald Ross, treasurer.

Carl Rassbach, outgoing president, presided as Wilkison was elected president due to the resignation of Robert Sullivan.

Rassbach led the pledge of allegiance and reported on booths and prizes for the carnival. Time changes for the carnival were announced as follows: May 24, 6 to 11 p. m.; May 25, 2 to 11 p. m. with a pancake supper to be served from 4 to 7 p. m. on the final day. Advance ticket sale is being conducted by PTA members.

Mrs. Bronnie Rassbach led devotions. The room count was won by Mrs. Mary Beatty's fourth grade. Refreshments were served by the executive committee.

Pythagoras, active in Greece circa 530 B. C. and known to every geometry student for his theorem of the square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle, was also a music theorist. Fascinated by numbers and the fact that music theoretically can be reduced to numbers, Pythagoras discovered that musical intervals of the octave, fifth and fourth depend on arithmetical ratios of lengths of string at the same tension.

Elkton News

Mrs. Doris Eells

ELKTON — Plans for a mother-daughter tea were made during a meeting of the Elkton Merry Maids 4-H Club at the home of Marcia and Brenda Dickey of Signal.

The event will be May 21 at the Elkton Methodist Church, beginning at 6:30 p. m. Those attending are to bring sandwiches, a salad and table service.

The members made gifts for their mothers.

The next meeting will be June 11, with the girls assembling at the Elkton post office at 5 p. m. to visit Beaver Creek State Park for a cookout and to advance the project for the year, "Let's Explore the Outdoors."

The Jolly Eight Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Jones of Elkton.

Prizes for 500 went to Mrs. Ralph Moore, Mrs. Frank Sturgeon and Mrs. Clifford Ward. Mrs. George Eells was a guest.

Mrs. Moore will be next hostess at her home on the Signal-Elkton Rd.

The Half Century Club met at the home of Mrs. Delmar Harrold, with 500 in play.

Winners were Mrs. Betty Marquis, Mrs. Evelyn Stanley, Mrs. Elenore Carmen and Mrs. Fern Ronshak. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Ward of Kensington.

The Town and Country Club met at the home of Mrs. Louella Wisler of Salem Thursday for a coverdish luncheon.

Prizes for games were won by Mrs. Margaret McMillan, Mrs. Betty Greer, Mrs. Eva Lewis and Mrs. Gertrude Martin. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Goldie Carlisle of the Lower Elkton Rd.

Driver Fined, Jailed In Charge At Lisbon

LISBON — Glen Ray Isaacs, 34, of the Frola Motel, Lisbon, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated before Mayor Clyde B. Pike Saturday night and was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

Police arrested Isaacs Friday night. A pipeline crewman, he began serving the sentence in shifts, an arrangement which has been permitted locally for years.

U.S. Estimates 11.4 Million Eligible To Vote First Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Census Bureau figures indicate about 11.4 million Americans will be old enough to vote for president for the first time in this year's election—enough to hold the balance of power in a close race.

The newest potential voters comprise nearly 10 per cent of the total civilian population of 118.5 million the Census Bureau says will be of voting age this coming November.

Of these, however, about 8.5 million will be ineligible to cast ballots because they are aliens, are in mental or correctional institutions or fail to meet state residency requirements.

The bureau didn't attempt to spell out how many persons of voting age actually will be eligible to vote in November.

But it said 63 per cent of the total civilian resident population of voting age cast ballots in the last presidential election.

The number of persons of voting age anticipated in November would be about 6 million more than November 1964 when President Johnson defeated then-Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., by landslide proportions. The 1960 presidential election between the late President John F. Kennedy and then-Vice President Richard M. Nixon was decided by a margin of about 168,000 votes out of more than 68 million cast.

Eligible voters 24 years old or younger had the lowest voting percentage—51 per cent—of any age in the 1964 presidential election.

The bureau didn't extract the number of collegians among this year's crop of those old enough to cast presidential ballots for the first time.

Generally, a person must be 21 to vote in any election but the minimum age is 19 in Alaska, 18 in Georgia and Kentucky and 20 in Hawaii.

Spike Ceremony Set On Saturday For 'Mini-Line'

LISBON — Earl Hamilton of the Gavers - West Point Rd. will drive the final spike Saturday in the steam railroad on his farm.

Hamilton is vice president of the Tri-State Steam Engine Association. He displays his equipment during the interstate exposition near Burgettstown, Pa.

Many of his associates will be at his farm Saturday for ceremonies marking completion of the "mini-line." About 25 old steam engines will be on the grounds and a steam locomotive will haul visitors.

Charles Lopeman of Columbus, chief counsel for Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, will speak. Charles Pike of Lisbon, Columbiana County Republican chairman, will introduce Mr. and Mrs. Lopeman.

The program will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Golden Age Club Honors Mothers

A Mother's Day program featured the meeting of the Golden Age Club of Chester and vicinity Friday afternoon in the Westminster United Presbyterian Church.

An article on "Mother's Day" was read by Lester Lutton, president.

Other readings were by Mrs. Ruth Chapman and Mrs. Flossie Whittington.

Mrs. Lillian Eberhart received the corsage and Mrs. Lela Pugh a spring bouquet of flowers.

Douglas Vaughn was a guest. Lunch was served 24 by Mrs. Ruth Chapman and her committee.

The group will meet again Friday.

Youth Is Taken To Reformatory

Charles J. Mercer, 18, of 130 Ravine St. was taken to the state reformatory at Mansfield today to begin serving concurrent sentences of 10 to 25 years for a robbery Jan. 2 at the Humble Service Station on E. 3rd St. and 1 to 15 years for a burglary Dec. 27 at the Pearl China Co.

After completing those sentences, Mercer will be taken to the Ohio State Penitentiary to serve 1 to 5 years for escape from the County Jail.

One of six prisoners who sawed out of jail March 18, Mercer was at large for three weeks. He pleaded guilty to all three offenses.

Resurfacing Planned For Johnsonville Rd.

Tentative approval of plans for resurfacing of Johnsonville Rd. near Chester this summer has been given by West Virginia State Road Commissioner M. R. Hamill.

A spokesman at Charleston said today Hamill is awaiting a recommendation from the district road engineer for formal approval of resurfacing of the 1.1 section of the road from Route 30 to the former Lawrenceville Rd.

The road, about which residents have been complaining for some months and which was recently inspected by Gov. Hulett Smith, will be resurfaced by SRC crews, the spokesman said.

Fire Bomb Damages Home Of Ohio Pastor

CINCINNATI (AP) — A fire bomb was thrown into the home of the Rev. C. L. Connor, a Negro Avondale section minister, Sunday night, causing an estimated $2,000 loss.

The minister said he fired seven shots at a car which he saw speeding away from the house.

Area Resident Hospitalized In Plunge By Auto

A Hookstown resident was hospitalized with injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding plunged down an embankment along Route 30 near the intersection with Route 168 at Laughlin's Corners Sunday night about 9.

Paul A. Davidson of Hookstown RD 1 is "satisfactory" at City Hospital with contusions of the head and left leg and lacerations of the eyebrow.

He was a passenger in a car operated by his brother, Tom J. Davidson, son of Tom J. Davidson of Hookstown RD 1.

Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa said Davidson was driving east on Route 30 when he lost control. The vehicle struck a guardrail and then went over the embankment.

RFK, JFK - Differences And Similarities

By JACK BELL, AP Political Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Everything is different. But, somehow, everything seems the same.

The voice that came out of the microphone mounted on the campaign sound truck has the same Harvard Yard twang. Often the quick, jerky gestures, the finger stabbing in the air for emphasis, are the same.

But the 1968 version of a Kennedy on the campaign trail has many differences from the 1960 Kennedy who established the political mystique of the family name.

In its fundamentals, the theme of John F. Kennedy eight years ago was: "Let's get this nation moving." He held aloft the banner of a dream of American greatness, a pattern of movement after what he labeled the drowsy Eisenhower year.

Basically, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is telling the campaign crowds as he crisscrosses the country that there is entirely too much wrong with America. He recites the ills of rioting, the hunger and the malignant idleness in the ghettos, the flaring threat of inflation, the bloody death toll in Vietnam.

RFK And 'Wrongs'

These bad, bad things just cannot be permitted to continue, he says. Yet while he spells out his position on the issues in policy papers, his ultimate solution is simple: If the voters just elect him president, he will do something about them.

The physical differences in campaigning by the Kennedy of 1960 and the Kennedy of 1968 stand out sharply.

John F. Kennedy was always a cool customer, highly approachable in private but a trifle standoffish in his response to public demonstrations. At 6 feet 1 and packing about 185 pounds, he could walk through crowds without being manhandled by admirers.

The beaming ladies, young and old, jumped, danced and squealed and tried to touch him as he rode or walked by. It was said of him that he looked like the kind of handsome husband every woman would like to have claimed for her own.

With Bob Kennedy it is different. At 5 feet 9 plus, weighing 165 soaking wet, he can get lost in the sea of those pressing about him. Tall Bill Barry, an ex-FBI man with the shoulders of a shotputter, breaks interference through the swarms of youthful admirers who persist in pressing close to touch Kennedy's clothing—if they can't reach the undulating hands he runs along the tips of the fingers stretching toward him.

Disposable Links

Once Barry lands him in the official car, the security man hangs around Kennedy's middle like a linebacker who has tackled a running back at the waistline. The crowd urge to rip off the New Yorker's cufflinks has become such an "in" thing that he now buys disposable ones by the gross.

Where John Kennedy was nearly always collected and to the point in his campaign remarks, Robert Kennedy has yet to overcome fully a jittery nervousness in addressing crowds that is betrayed by trembling hands as he grasps the podium.

The 1968 candidate gradually is succeeding in shucking off the emotional intensity that marked his early campaigning. He is adopting a relaxed, rambling style geared to getting laughs and cheers by local references.

The New York senator seems to have inherited the fabled "trunkful of jokes" President Kennedy was supposed to have had on the luggage truck at all times. They just don't seem to have been adapted by his writers to fit the occasion quite as well as those that John F. Kennedy got off.

The Big Family

When he talks in farm communities, Sen. Kennedy's favorite line is to announce that he is the candidate who is doing most for the farmer. He cites as an example the 26 quarts of milk he says his family—with 10 children going on 11—consumes daily.

Behind this badinage, however, lies the familiar glinting steel of a solidly constructed political organization, built by Bob Kennedy for his brother in the 1960 primaries and general election and now reconstructed for his own use.

The Kennedys never do anything by halves. They inundate their opponents with men and money. But their best asset still remains the name which President Kennedy raised to his glamorous heights.

First Arrive At Capital

'Tent City' Work Started In Poor People's March

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaign, officially launched with a Mother's Day march through a riot-ripped Negro slum, now begins erecting the tent city to house some 3,000 demonstrators slowly covering on the city.

The first 450 of the campaign's rank and file reached the nation's capital over the weekend. More are scheduled to arrive by week's end.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., widow of the slain civil rights leader who conceived the campaign as a means of winning more federal help for the poor, led Sunday's march.

The demonstration, soaked by rain for most of its duration, went off without incident. Police Lt. E. J. Prete estimated the number of marchers at between 2,000 and 3,500.

Resurrection City

Today the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is to drive a stake into parkland near the Lincoln Memorial and thus signal the start of construction of shelters in what campaign leaders call Resurrection City.

The 15-acre site runs parallel to the reflecting pool between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument.

The Mother's Day march was sponsored by the Nationwide Welfare Rights Organization (NWRO), which sent delegations from chapters across the nation.

The marchers, including Negroes and whites, American Indians and Mexican-Americans, assembled at the John F. Kennedy Playground deep in one of the city's poorest Negro neighborhoods.

The marchers passed the ruins of stores looted and burned during three nights of violence that followed the April 4 slaying of King in Memphis.

Mothers Speak

Earlier Sunday, NWRO members, mostly mothers on welfare, spoke at 53 area churches asking for support.

The group seeks repeal of restrictive amendments dealing with welfare that were passed last year as part of a bill increasing Social Security benefits. Another aim of NWRO is adoption of a $4,000 minimum annual income for every American family.

Senate Report Hit Company Denies Charge Of Viet 'Kickback Policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret Senate report alleging indications of kickbacks to employees of a U. S. construction firm in South Vietnam has been strongly denied by the company's top officer.

Edward A. Shay, president of Pacific Architects & Engineers, Inc., said Sunday the report is "distorted, unjustified and unfair."

The 75-page document, prepared by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., after a Southeast Asia tour last December, urges broad congressional investigation of U. S. aid programs in Vietnam and of contracts held by two major contractors.

Ribicoff named the firms as RMK-BRJ, a joint venture that includes four companies, and Shay's PAE. The report has been filed with the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

There was no immediate comment in Saigon from U.S. aid and RMK-BRJ officials. Shay's prepared reply was released by company officials in Los Angeles.

Ribicoff said PAE contracted with the Army in mid-1965 to renovate the Grand Hotel in Nha Trang for use as a headquarters at an initial estimate of $208,423 but the final cost was $996,226.

Shay replied: "The original cost estimate involved principally the restoration of a single building, but the U.S. Army later ordered the company to construct an entire complex of buildings."

Cleveland Held In Street Killing

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man shot twice in the head and once in the chest fell out of the driver's seat of a moving automobile into Payne Avenue near East 38th Street late Sunday night and died.

He was identified by the coroner's office early today as Peter Travato, 38, of Willoughby.

Police said Travato was paroled from the Ohio Penitentiary in 1966 after serving six years on a burglary conviction.

Gray tape marks on Travato's wrists and ankles indicated he had been bound and either broke loose or was unbound.

Some residents in the area, which is less than a mile from Central Police Station, told police they heard three shots fired.

Police said papers in the car listed its owner as Anthony J. Buffa, 47, of Garfield Heights, who was held without charge for questioning.

Buffa has a record of 17 arrests on charges ranging from burglary to pandering and was paroled from Ohio Penitentiary seven years ago after serving three years for conviction on a charge of receiving $13,000 in stolen furs.

The shooting occurred about 11 p.m., but Travato was not identified until several hours later.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake formula developed by a geophysicist supports scientists' predictions that a large quake is overdue in the Los Angeles area.

The mathematical formula, developed by Dr. James N. Brune of California Institute of Technology, indicates how much the earth on either side of large cracks called faults can be expected to slip laterally during an earthquake.

Brune figures the section of the fault between San Bernardino and the central coast range of mountains north of Los Angeles County may have amassed as much as 22 feet of "slip" since the last major quake there in 1857. A 22-foot slip would produce a tremor potentially disastrous to a populated area, he said.

1 Of 7 Mishaps

City Man Hurt As Auto Wrecks

A city man suffered a fractured skull in a one-car mishap early Sunday on Park Way, one of seven weekend accidents investigated by East Liverpool police.

Victor Klemann, 21, of 149 Reynolds St. suffered the head injury when his 1968 model auto rammed two locust posts along Park Way Sunday at 12:30 a.m.

Klemann told Patrolman Jack Stroble he was driving north when another car came down the hill on the wrong side of the road. Klemann said he pulled left to avoid a collision and his car went off the road and struck the posts, damaging the left front and possibly the undercarriage.

Klemann is in "fair" condition at City Hospital.

Robert Keith Shroades, 20, of Post Office Box 625 escaped injury in a spectacular accident at 5:49 a.m. today on Dresden Ave. about 75 feet south of Smith St.

SHROADES said he pulled from a parking place and the accelerator stuck on the 1968 sedan just as he shifted into second gear. The vehicle jumped the curb, ripped off a parking meter and continued down the sidewalk for several feet. The car then crossed to the other side of the street and rammed an Ohio Power Co. utility pole.

Shroades was cited for reckless operation. He was driving a car owned by Anthony Lascola of 923 Phoenix Ave., Chester. Patrolman David Huffman investigated.

Marion L. Perkins, 24, of Myler Park reported to police at 12:14 a.m. today his 1968 sedan was damaged in a hit-skip mishap. He told officers he was parked when another car backed into him. The other driver sped across the Newell Bridge.

CARS operated by Mrs. Betty Eileen Harris, 32, of Center Rd. and Robert Provost, 16, of St. Clair Ave. Ext. figured in a collision Saturday at 3:15 p.m. on St. Clair Ave.

Mrs. Harris told Patrolman K. J. Montgomery she was northbound on St. Clair and had just passed Jennings Ave. when her car was struck in the right rear door and fender by the other.

Provost told police he halted at the intersection and looked both ways. He said he saw the other car in the center lane and pulled out. Provost said the Harris car swung into the right lane as he pulled out.

Mrs. Harris was driving a 1966 hardtop. Provost was driving a 1960 four-door.

No one was injured in a rear-end collision of two cars operated by Mrs. Shirley Leonard, 37, of 926 St. George St. and Mrs. Sharon Lynn Gilkinson, 25, of Westfield Rd. Saturday at 2:31 p.m. near the intersection of Pennsylvania and Virginia Aves.

Both were westbound on Pennsylvania Ave. when Mrs. Leonard halted to make a left turn onto Virginia Ave. Mrs. Gilkinson said one of the children in her car said something to her and as she turned to investigate she hit the other car. Patrolman Charles Coen investigated.

A CAR operated by James Frank Rayl, 26, of 2112 LaCroft Ave. hit the side of another operated by Martha J. Stockdale, 56, of Box 225 Wellsville Saturday at 4:20 p.m. on W. 8th St. near Jefferson St.

Rayl was eastbound on W. 8th when the other car pulled from a service station directly into his path, police reported. The entire front end of the Rayl car and the right side of the Stockdale car was damaged.

Rayl was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the right knee. His brother, William Rayl, a passenger, was treated for abrasions of the forehead and lip.

Dolores H. Forman, 42, of 104 Court St., New Cumberland, reported to police Saturday at 11:56 a.m. her car struck another as she was parking in the Municipal Parking Lot on E. 4th St.

She notified police and left her name and address on the windshield of the other car, police said.

Vi-Lar Kadettes Win New Honors

The Vi-Lar Kadettes Baton and Drum Corps of East Liverpool earned a "perfect inspection" score during NBTA competition Saturday at the United School.

The group was attired in new summer uniforms for the first time.

The Kadettes received a first-place award in open corps competition and second in all-Ohio competition, missing first by four-tenths of a point. The Vi-Lars also received the best color guard.

Soloist trophy winners were Gloria Creaturo, Susan Williams, Debby Eddy, Debbie Hanlon, Leslie Higgins and Marsha Joy.

The Kadettes will compete Sunday at Pleasant Hills, Pa.

Bananas, to be at their best when eaten, must be picked green and allowed to ripen later. Some fruits are picked green merely to preserve them during shipment and storage. With bananas, the primary reason is that if they are left to ripen on the vine their skins split open, allowing bacteria and insects to enter and cause the fruit to rot rather than ripen.

Past And Present Styles Highlight Church Banquet

HIGHLANDTOWN — "Styles of Yesterday and Today" was the program theme for the annual mother - daughter banquet of the Highlandtown United Methodist Church Friday night at the grange hall.

The oldest fashion was a dress approximately 150 years old belonging to the Frank Rose family.

New fashions from The Modern Shoppe were modeled by Mrs. Agnes McKenzie, Mrs. Janet Taggart, Mrs. Glinlin McKenzie, Miss Carol Leatherberry and Miss Kay McKenzie. Modeling wedding attendants' attire were Mrs. Catherine Leatherberry and Miss Cathy Seigler.

Mrs. Evelyn Seigler was chairman for the banquet. The tables were decorated with flowers, cakes and miniature hats. The color scheme was pink and orchid. Approximately 80 were present.

Mrs. Nellie Randolph was awarded a gift for "Mother of the Year." Other gifts were presented Mrs. H. D. Leatherberry, Mrs. Barbara Smith, Miss Margie Francis and Miss Sherry Miller.

County CAA Meeting Set Thursday Night

LISBON — The Community Action Agency of Columbiana County, Inc., will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the County Welfare Building, 117 E. Washington St., with the Rev. William V. Ring of Leetonia, chairman.

Plans are being made for "open house" from 3 to 6 p.m. next Sunday at the East Liverpool center.

Reports will be given by Mrs. Bea Henderson, center director, and Mrs. Anne Lecroy, program developer, who has lined up several projects at Salineville.

Czech Suicides Up

PRAGUE — The suicide rate increased in Czechoslovakia in the last years, the news agency C T K reported. In 1963 a total of 57.3 persons out of 10,000 committed suicide, while in 1966 the number increased to 66.9.

Kremlin Fails To Pressure Czech Change

PRAGUE (AP) — The liberal leadership of Czechoslovakia's Communist party shows no signs of knuckling under to pressure from the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany.

The party presidium is expected to meet this week and add momentum to the campaign to break away from the Kremlin's domination.

It is no secret here that pressure has been exerted by Moscow and other Soviet bloc members disturbed by Czechoslovakias trend toward independence. But there is no sign of panic among Prague's government and party leaders.

Alarm over rumors of threatened Soviet military intervention was generated abroad, not in Czechoslovakia. But apparently there was a strong enough hint of military pressure from Moscow to give the Czechoslovakians a picture of what could happen if Prague carries its independence movement too far.

Informed sources say Soviet troop movements on the Polish-Czechoslovak border last week, in the form of "staff maneuvers" of Warsaw Pact forces, were not big enough to threaten any military action. But they were sufficient to get the message across, the sources say.

There is also resentment over the fact that Czechoslovakia has a trade deficit with the West but a surplus with the Soviet Union. It is no secret that the Russians owe the Czechoslovaks money, but no one in authority will say how much.

There is growing warmth toward the United States.

Mormons Oppose Bid On Utah Drink Sales

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A move to get a proposal for liquor-by-the-drink sales on the Utah ballot in November has been opposed by Mormon Church President David O. McKay.

A spokesman for a group which began circulating petitions Friday to have the issue put on the ballot said, "signing the petition does not necessarily indicate support of the proposal, but, rather indicates people should have an opportunity to vote on it."

McKay, 94, said Saturday "let no one be misled concerning the real intent" of the drive. "The real purpose is to make liquor more easily available."

Two Cars Involved In Mishap At Lisbon

LISBON — Cars driven by James L. McBride, 62, of 721 Sunset Dr. and James M. Neiser, 21, of 1573 Globe St., East Liverpool, collided at 4:15 p.m. Saturday on E. Lincoln Way at the east side of the Square.

Both drivers reported the accident to police, who said McBride told them he was driving his 1968 sedan north on Nelson Ave., stopped for Lincoln Way (Route 30) traffic, then pulled onto Lincoln Way and was struck by Neiser's compact. McBride said he did not see the small car. No one was cited.

Highway Patrol Lists 8 Mishaps

Two area residents suffered injuries in two of eight highway mishaps investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon over the weekend.

Joseph E. Hill, 34, of West Clark St., East Palestine, was injured Saturday when his 1960 sedan, eastbound on Route 14, swerved off the roadway on a curve two miles east of Salem, went over an embankment and rolled over, officers said.

Hill was thrown from the auto. The mishap was timed at 2:40 a.m.

HILL WAS cited by the patrol for driving while intoxicated, public intoxication and failure to have an auto license displayed.

Charles R. Powell, 24, of Lisbon RD 2 was injured Sunday at 12:10 p.m. when his 1960 convertible went out of control on a curve on Route 45 near West Point, left the right side of the road, came back into the roadway, then swerved off the left side and struck a sign pole.

Powell was cited by the patrol for reckless operation.

Three city residents were involved in a three-car mishap on Route 7 about four miles north of Route 30 Saturday at 4:25 p.m.

OFFICERS said Duane Blanner, 21, of Anderson Blvd. was cited for speeding in view of road conditions after his 1966 coach, northbound, went out of control, struck and forced two other cars over the road embankment.

The Blanner coach first hit a southbound 1967 coach driven by Cheryl Marsh, 31, of 927 Garner Ave., forcing it off the right side of the road, continued on and hit a 1964 sedan operated by James L. Littell, 67, of Lisbon St. Ext., forcing it off the road also, the patrol reported.

A city man was charged with driving left of center following a two-car mishap on County Rd. 430, a mile east of County Rd. 425, Sunday at 12:30 a. m.

Samuel K. Shaffer, 17, of Birch Rd. was cited by the patrol after his 1963 sedan, westbound, went left of center and struck an eastbound 1966 coach operated by Mark L. Goodman, 18, of Summit Dr.

Winston L. Myers, 52, of 608 McKinnon Ave. was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way at a stop sign on Route 172 after his 1965 station wagon was struck by a 1962 coach, northbound on Route 9.

OFFICERS said Myers was cited after his vehicle pulled into the path of the coach operated by William E. Grate, 43, of Columbiana Saturday at 5:40 p.m.

Two cars received damages to the left fronts as the result of a mishap on Route 267 about two miles west of here Sunday at 9:35 a. m.

Damaged slightly was a 1966 sedan, operated by Albert Caruso, 59, of 630 Inez St. and a 1964 sedan operated by Edna I. Grimm, 57, of Lisbon St.

Officers said the mishap occurred when the westbound Caruso car halted slightly left of center to make a left turn, was struck by the northbound Grimm car which went out of control while making a right turn.

Cars driven by two Lisbon residents were involved in a two-car mishap on Route 30 about four miles west of Lisbon, Sunday at 5:35 p. m.

Officers said a westbound 1957 sedan operated by Lloyd E. Gilmore, 19, of 123 1/2 N. Market St., attempting to overtake an unidentified vehicle crowded an approaching 1966 sedan, operated by Adrian Adrienne Bye, 21, of Lisbon RD 4 off the right side of the road.

The Bye car received damages to the left side, rear and undercarriage.

A Darlington youth suffered injuries and said he would make his own arrangements for medical treatment following a one-car mishap on Route 164 Saturday at 6:30 a. m.

Joseph R. Buksa, 17, of Darlington RD 2 received the injuries when his 1967 compact, westbound on Route 154, about two miles east of Route 7, went out of control on a curve, veered off the side of the road and struck a large rock.

Hancock Voters Ready For Tuesday's Election

Ieski and Robert D. Wright, all of Weirton.

Evans, 54, of 804 Ridge Ave. is presently County Commissioner and is manager of Phillips Hardware in New Cumberland. Malinowski, a Weirton councilman, is employed at Weirton Steel.

Mallas, 41, is a crane man at Weirton Steel. He has been a member of the Democratic Executive Committee since 1964.

Rocchio has been employed for nine years at Weirton Steel Co. He also owns and operates the Tri-State Detective Agency, and is a licensed private investigator.

Smoleski, 46, is concluding his fourth term as a Butler District constable. He is an employee of the Weirton Steel Co.

Wright, 39, has been employed for 20 years at Weirton Steel. He was the first candidate to file for the post.

ON THE REPUBLICAN ticket Harold L. Miller of Chester and John C. Moore and Ralph J. Patrick Jr. of Weirton are seeking the sheriff nomination.

Miller of 31 Lycia Ave. is employed by the Blue Grass Barber Shop of Weirton.

Moore is serving his second consecutive term as Weirton Councilman. He formerly owned Moore's Grocery on Cove Rd. for 12 years, and has been an agent for the New York Life Insurance Co. since 1957.

Patrick, 35, is making his second bid for the sheriff's post. He won the primary election four years ago, but was defeated in the general election by Sheriff Joseph Rodak whose term expires this year. Patrick has been an employee of the Weirton Steel Co. for 13 years.

No candidates filed on the Republican ticket for the office of prosecuting attorney.

INCUMBENT

Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr of Weirton faces Miss Callie Tsapis and Edward A. Zagula of Weirton on the Democratic slate.

Tarr, seeking his third term, is in law practice with Donald R. Donell, assistant prosecuting attorney, W. Dean DeLaMater and Thomas D. Hagg of Weirton.

He has practiced for 15 years.

Miss Tsapis, Weirton attorney and incumbent member of the House of Delegates from Hancock County, has served in the State Legislature since 1959, except for the period 1965-67 when she sought the Prosecutor's post.

Zagula, 42, a former Hancock Democratic chairman, has practiced law five years in Weirton and was an electrical engineer with the Westinghouse Corp. at Pittsburgh following his graduation from the University of South Carolina in 1948. He is associated with the law firm of Zagula and Stevenson.

MRS. HARRY S. (Mary Lou)

Newburn of New Cumberland and Dan Grossi of Weirton vie on the Democratic ticket for clerk of circuit court. No Republican filed for the position.

Mrs. Newburn, publisher of the Hancock County Courier, is past recorder of New Cumberland and was city clerk for six years.

Grossi of Weirton is employed as an electrician at Weirton Steel.

Running for the Democrat nomination for clerk of county court are Scott Blake and incumbent George Konchar, both of New Cumberland.

Blake of Hardins Run Rd. is self - employed as a plasterer. Konchar, 53, is completing the unexpired six-year term of Donald Stewart who died in 1963. Stewart's wife served from the time of his death until January 1965, when Konchar took over. An employee of the Weirton Steel Co., he twice sought election as Hancock sheriff unsuccessfully in the early part of the 1950's.

TWO WEIRTON Democrats are seeking nomination for assessor — George Rodak and Anthony N. Pirraglia. There are no Republican candidates.

Rodak has served 16 years on Weirton Council, and has been president for 12 years. He is building superintendent of the Millsop Community Center at Weirton.

Pirraglia of 135 Forest Rd. is an employee of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp. He is a registered public accountant.

Six Democrats and two Republicans have filed for the position of County Commissioner. On the Democratic ticket, W. (Wick) Atwell, Welty M. Vulgamore Jr., George Vacheresse, Joseph H. Manspenny and John J. Kuzio of New Cumberland and Earl Stover of New Manchester will compete.

M. H. (Meb) Beatty and W. Dale Williams, both of New Cumberland, will vie for the Republican appointment.

Atwell has been an employee of the Weirton Steel Co. for 31 years. He served as a justice of the peace in 1945-49.

VUGAMORE, 42, operates an insurance firm in Chester. His previous political posts included Mayor of New Cumberland in 1962-64 and Third Ward councilman.

Vacheresse, 32, of New Cumberland, has been assistant manager for 13 years of the Bonizzio Quaker State Products Co., and has worked as a deputy for the Hancock Sheriff's office for more than three years.

Manspenny, a former Sheriff, served as chief of police of New Cumberland for 12 years and constable of Clay District for three terms. He was elected sheriff in 1960.

Kuzio, 48, has been a teacher at New Cumberland and Oak Glen high schools for 18 years, and is now director of physical education and of junior high athletics at Oak Glen. He was a member of the Governors Traffic Safety Advisory Committee and served on the Hancock County Children's Board ten years.

Stover, 56, is self employed, operating the Pughtown Service and Supply Co.

Beatty is former owner of the New Cumberland News Agency and is employed by the Weirton Steel Co.

Dr. W. Dale Williams of Route 2 served on the Hancock Board of Education for 12 years, from 1955 to 1967, as well as holding other affiliated positions. A dental surgeon, he is a member of the staff at Weirton General Hospital and Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville.

TWO REPUBLICANS and five

Democrats are seeking nomination to the House of Delegates.

H. Burdette Crow of Weirton and John Lincoln Owen of Chester, Republicans, and Weirton Democrats Gust G. Brenda, Patsy Cortez, Incumbent George G. Griffith, Leonard D. Salerno and John J. Varlas will compete.

Crow, 61, is director of the college recruitment program for Weirton Steel Co. He is serving his seventh term as president of the West Virginia University Council on Economic Education.

Families Get Out In Tent Campers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A modern version of the covered wagon is hitching Mother to outdoor housekeeping. The message is: "Look Ma, no snakes, no worms, no soggy bed." New recreational vehicles such as tent campers provide everything from wall-to-wall vinyl floors to four-burner ranges.

Is Ma being wooed to the outdoors as a cook, floor mopper or outdoor companion?

It's a little of all three, says industrial designer Andrew Kostanecki of New Canaan, Conn. He confirms that "the tendency to luxury interiors in camping vehicles has Mother in mind" but it isn't because of cooking privileges. The outdoors has become a family enterprise, so why not make Mother comfortable, he explains.

Then too, it's one way to get certain men outdoors.

SOME tent campers are automatic, unfolding at the turn of a knob — a function that has definite appeal to some men. Others prefer hard work.

It isn't easy to design such campers, Kostanecki explains. A great many rugged men — though unfortunately, he points out, their numbers are dwindling — still want to live it up trapper-like in the outdoors. "We try to provide features that won't interfere with his feelings that he is in control of making camp. If he looks at time philosophically, he probably enjoys having more time to roam the woods, fish, build a fire or whatever. A man doesn't need to feel that being miserable and working hard is the only way to enjoy the outdoors."

Kostanecki is an outdoor man, himself, one reason why he has been interested in designing for the outdoors — sailboat gizmos, a woodland house which won an award in 1966 and tent campers which he began designing three years ago.

One eight-sleeper, the hard-top Catalina, has an automatic crank that pops up beds. It has a fully equipped double-decker 70-inch galley with a range, stainless steel sink and 25-pound ice box below. There is a heater, a collapsible clothes locker and decorative accents such as walnut paneling, beige vinyl flooring, blueberry-color cushions.

KOSTANECKI, who began his career with world-famed designers Henry Dreyfus and Eliot Noyes 10 years ago after graduation from Cornell, sizes up space and then designs elements to fit into it.

"It's the only way you can make space pay off, one reason why mobile homes are ahead of the building industry in space utilization. They have units to build compact space rather than relying on what is provided by architectural catalogs."

He keeps potential miniature fittings for campers on his desk, putting them in perspective for particular areas.

He expects some of these revolutionary ideas to see the light in next year's models — a super camper that may be great enough, he says enthusiastically, to bring the jet set down to earth.

Kostanecki loves to sail, but thinks that camping provides the best family togetherness experiences. His three children are at loose ends on his boat — there is nothing for children to do aboard. Though he is a champion sailor, he takes his youngsters to the woods.

"Camping provides experces besides fulfilling man's basic need to get back to nature. Children can be given jobs such as gathering wood, and it can be a game to see who can bring back the largest collection of wood."

LAST YEAR more than 40 million Americans went camping, and by the year 2,000 there should be a camping increase of 238 per cent, says the U. S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. One out of five Americans camped out last year, creating a boom in the recreation vehicle industry, points out Jim Briggs, vice president of Outdoor Marine Corp.

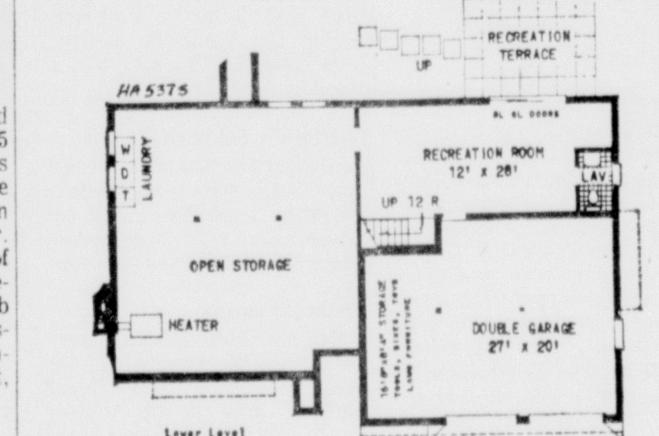

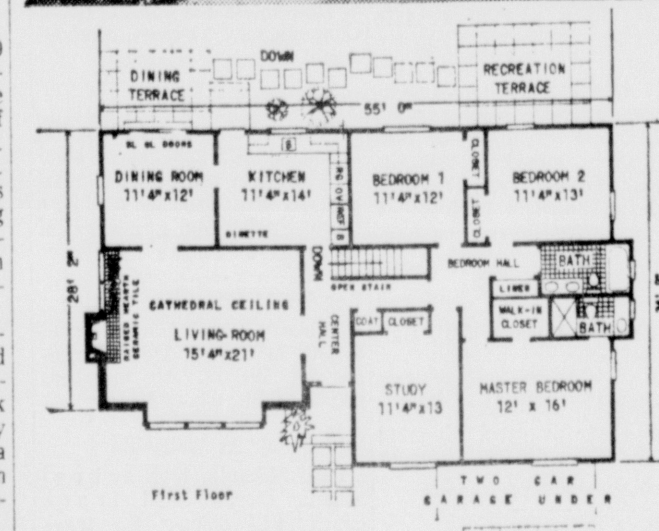

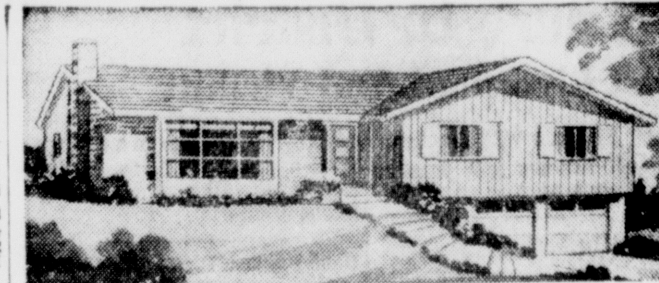

The most active family campers are in the 35-to-44-year-old age group, their survey revealed. A great many began a trek to the outdoors in the early days of their marriage totting a tent to the woods, and then moved on to other tent camping vehicles.

Vote Recount Slated In Allen County Race

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A hand count of ballots cast in all 145 Allen County voting precincts has been ordered to determine the winner in the Republican race for county commissioner. The Allen County Board of Elections will conduct the recount. Contending for the job are former county commissioner, Owen Mason, and former Lima city council president, C. W. Bradford.

Ambassador Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Zachariah Keodirelang Matthews, 67, ambassador from Botswana, died Saturday after a lengthy illness. Matthews, 67, a lawyer and internationally known educator, had been Botswana's envoy to Washington virtually since the birth of his southern African republic in September 1966.

Antiquing Kits Bring Pleasing Results

Antiquing is a "fool-the-eye" technique that can add richness and style to unfinished, second-hand, or even new furniture. Antiquing kits, available at your paint or hardware dealers, make it easy to achieve beautiful results.

Most antiquing kits come with detailed instructions which should be exactly followed. Briefly, the process consists of sanding the surface (or using a paint remover on badly damaged surfaces); cleaning the surface, filling scratches with wood filler if desired; applying the undercoat; applying the toner; then rubbing to achieve the desired effect before the toner dries.

AFTER applying the toner, there are a number of different approaches that can be used. To simulate a wood grain, rub with a dry brush. Put a small amount of toner on the tip of the brush in the color, and brush in long even strokes with the grain of the wood. Brush in irregular lines.

To get a splatter effect, dip the ends of a toothbrush into the paint and spring the bristles with your finger — thus throwing a fine spray of toner over the surface. Don't use much toner on the brush.

A marbled appearance is achieved by applying a heavier coat of toner, placing a large piece of wrinkled plastic lightly on the surface, and patting the plastic lightly with a cloth. Pick up the plastic quickly, making sure you don't drag it.

The look of water stained wood can be created by rubbing the toned surface and then splattering it with mineral spirits. The toner spreads out where the liquid has fallen, creating a water stained look.

WORK ON one small area at a time to achieve a tortoise shell appearance. Apply a heavier than usual amount of toner, then tap the surface lightly with your fingertips or short bristle brush, changing the angle each time.

Steel Reports Big Stockpile

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine says tremendous stocks of steel are being built by consumers anticipating a steel strike this summer.

One producer predicts "a whopping 36 million tons of steel could be in users' inventories by the end of July — barring an early labor contract settlement," the weekly Journal of Metalworking reported.

"That's more than a third of total 1968 estimated shipments by domestic mills, it's six million tons above the high inventory levels achieved prior to the 1959 steel strike and during labor contract negotiations in 1965," Steel continued.

The trade magazine said the push for mill deliveries "is now on in earnest. The tonnage movement is rising rapidly, and probably will not peak until July."

Steel added that many steel-makers "think the buying movement has peaked. A few still detect no tapering off, however."

Steelmaking operations continue at a near-record pace. Steel reported, estimating raw steel production for the week ended May 11 at 2,904,000 net tons, unchanged from the preceding week.

Price adjustments pushed steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade steelmaking scrap down 34 cents to $25.33 a gross ton.

43rd Body Recovered In Silver Bridge Fall

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — The body of a victim of the Silver Bridge tragedy in December was found Sunday by two men in a private boat in the Ohio River.

The body of Thomas Cantrell, 26, Gallipolis, was recovered from the river near here. It was the 43rd body to be recovered since the bridge between Point Pleasant, W. Va., and Kanawha, Ohio, collapsed Dec. 15. Bodies of three other known victims still are missing.

Windows Can Prove A Pain

Most do-it-yourself painters find that, although the rest of the job is a snap, painting windows and trim presents a slight problem.

These tips from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association should help alleviate any difficulties in your next painting task.

There is a certain system you should follow when painting windows so that you won't waste time waiting for various areas to dry and so you'll be sure to cover every spot.

Paint the mullions first, and then the horizontals of the sash. Paint the verticals of the sash next, followed by the verticals of the frame. Your last step is painting the horizontal frame and sill.

It's a good idea to remove the hardware from your doors and windows before you begin to paint. This will make your painting job easier and will give you a chance to clean and polish the metal until it looks like new.

Masking tape is very helpful in keeping stray splatters away from the glass when painting window frames. Apply the tape along the window directly adjacent to the glass. Then brush the paint onto the frame, being careful not to use too thick a coat. Once the paint has dried, carefully cut the paint film between the tape and frame with a razor blade, then strip off the tape.

Even though you may be painting your walls with a handy flat paint, it's best to use a good quality trim enamel for your windows and woodwork since they receive the most wear. The area of the sash and frame of a window is generally thirty-five square feet.

Multiply this figure by the number of windows to get the area that has to be covered with trim enamel. Divide this product by the coverage, and you'll know how much trim enamel to buy.

Outdoor wooden trim, such as window sashes, shutters and doors, should be attractively coated with a colorful exterior trim paint or enamel. These coatings, which dry with a relatively glossy surface, are available in a variety of attractive permanent colors.

When painting woodwork use a round, one-inch brush for window sash, and a two or three-inch one for the balance of the trim. When you paint paneled doors, it's a good idea to coat the panels first, then the center rail. The top and bottom rails come next — then the vertical stiles. Paint the edges last.

Warning Signs Given On Faulty Cold, Hot System

Do your air-conditioning registers, located near the floor, blow cold air on your feet and leave your head and shoulders less than cool? In the winter do you suddenly feel cold when the thermostat clicks off?

These are major warning signs of a faulty, ineffective comfort system, according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council.

The council points out that cooling registers should be located near the ceiling, thus following the scientific principle that heated air rises and cooled air falls.

When introduced from above, cooled air will fall gently and evenly to the floor. If introduced into the room at floor level, the cooled air will tend to move across the floor and must be forced upward. This increases the chance of drafts, blower noises and warm air pockets.

Studies at the University of Illinois indicate that baseboard heating units, stretched along the perimeter of the home, are among the most effective methods of heat distribution. Hydronic (hot water) baseboard heating is clean, draft-free and emits both radiant and conveyed heat, the council adds.

Radiant heat directly warms your body as well as the walls and floors, while convected heat warms the air and assures gentle, draft-free circulation in each room of the house. The result is steady, even and lasting heat.

New Talks Planned In Cleveland Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—Renewed efforts were scheduled today to end a six-week United Auto workers strike at Harris-Sevold Co. after 42 skilled tradesmen among the 650 strikers rejected a tentative agreement reached Friday.

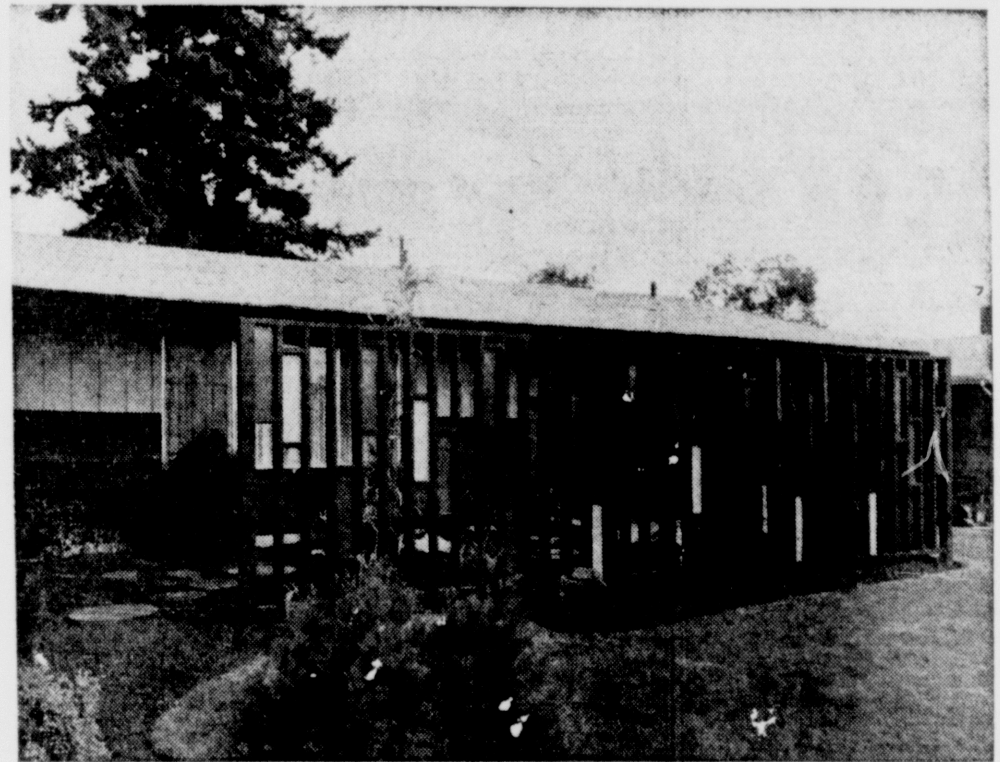

An apprentice program is among issues on which the skilled workers opposed ratification. George Lewis, president of U.A.W. Local 755, said.

The company makes printing presses at its plant in Cuyahoga Heights.

Cleveland Man Slain

CLEVELAND (AP)—Shot in the groin, Richard L. Barkley, ran from a house on East 73rd Street early Sunday and collapsed and died outside. Police were holding another East Side man who witnesses said had been fighting with Barkley and accusing him of stealing a ring and watch.

Court Will Upgrade Home

A neighborhood of look-alike houses — is anything more dreary? Yet this is the type of housing available to most families, who must scramble hard to turn the mediocre look-alikes into homes that reflect individuality and good taste.

Of course it's no small task to overcome the built-in problems of poor design. But ingenuity, enthusiasm and elbow grease are a winning combination that can rescue the exterior of the house as surely as they've transformed home interiors.

A SUPERB idea, because of its low cost, is a cover-up treatment that hides the house front behind something better looking. One family did it with a single screen that stretches nearly the length of the house. It appears to be — but isn't quite — wall-height. The screen is L-shaped, designed to define an entrance court. The section paralleling the house is 24 feet long, while the shorter section, which returns to the house wall at right angles, stretches a distance of 14 feet.

Construction of the screen was as simple as its design is imaginative. Fir 4x4-inch posts were spaced 12 feet apart and connected top and bottom with 2-by-4-inch stringers. Next, 2-by-4s were nailed vertically between the rails, set edge out and spaced six inches apart.

Then, to make a pattern both crisp and dramatic, the owners inserted 2-foot-long painted hardboard panels between the vertical 2-by-4s, obtaining an effect much like contemporary stained glass window design.

IRREGULAR positioning of the panels over the screen's length avoided any pattern repetition that would catch and hold attention. Only one colored panel is used in any of the 6-inch-wide spaces, and a few spaces are left entirely open.

Framing the panels top and bottom and holding them in place are pieces of 2-by-4s set crosswise between the uprights. The crosspieces were grooved to receive the quarter-inch hardboard and were nailed to the uprights from the side.

The screen was stained black, a good contrast for the multi-hued panels. At the same time, the house siding was stained dark to enable it to "hide" better behind the screen.

Besides masking the house front, the screen also gives considerable privacy to front windows, despite its wide-open pattern. Entrance court plantings help in this regard, too.

THE COURT is merely dug-up lawn, now attractively planted with evergreen shrubs and mulched with bark material. The original walk has been replaced by wide, closely-spaced stepping stones connecting driveway to front door.

Important, though not obvious, is the line of the walk, which roughly parallels the house so that the visitor's eye is always directed to the screen or entry court plantings, never to the less interesting house.

On the screen's street side, the lawn was reshaped to form a gentle curve, leaving a narrow planting bed at the screen's base and a wide one alongside the driveway, where shrubbery helps mask the end of the house not covered by the screen.

is firm against the girder. From here on the post works like an auto jack, only much more slowly.

A sagging beam cannot be raised quickly. This could cause great damage. Give the screw about a half turn every week, never more.

Cracked plaster, damage to water lines could occur if the lifting were done any more quickly.

Check with a level now and then to see when you can stop. Since jack posts are strong and inexpensive, they can be left in place as permanent posts.

The piranha, one of the world's most dangerous fish, rarely exceeds 15 inches in length.

You Can Help Protect Lawn

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Virtually all the new houses are fitted with gutters and leaders, frequently referred to as eaves - trough and downspouts.

The purpose of these items is to prevent heavy rain cascading down the face of the house walls by taking it to the edges of the roof and leading it down to the ground for proper disposal. This is usually accomplished properly, but there is more to be done about it.

During a heavy rain, the opening at the bottom of the leader gushes water in a powerful stream, and new lawns often are gouged deeply by the onrush. Splash mats beneath the gutter are effective as long as the lawn is well established and rooted, but where it is not, deep erosion occurs.

One of the best ways to prevent this damage is to build dry wells beneath the spout. Probably the easiest way to accomplish this is to take an old barrel and knock out both the ends.

This is placed in a hole and then filled with broken stone or gravel. The result is that the water will be disposed of through the ground in a proper manner and injury to the new lawn will be averted.

Dry wells of this type have a life of three or four years. After that they become clogged up with silt and their effectiveness greatly reduced. But during the time they are working, the lawn has a chance to stabilize.

When this point is reached, a few inches of the stone can be taken out and soil dumped in and raked off smooth. A splash mat then can be installed. There is no necessity for digging out the barrel or going to any great amount of trouble.

Phone Talks Bog Down On Firings

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Negotiators, amid a bitter feud that apparently outstrips the contract package, headed back to the bargaining table today for talks in the 19-day-old strike of 13,000 state telephone workers against the Bell Telephone Co.

The president of the striking Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania (FTWP) says his group is content with Bell's latest offer. But, I.C. Glendenning adds the union "is ready to go back to work (only) when the company becomes willing to let the courts take care of the law instead of the company making their own laws."

Contract talks were recessed Sunday after the union rejected a company offer to arbitrate strike-connected discharges and suspension. This item is the apparent stumbling block in settlement.

A Bell Spokesman said the firm offered to arbitrate discharges and disciplinary suspensions "that might be imposed on union members for acts of violence, sabotage or other acts of misconduct during the strike."

Educator Warns Of School Crisis In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Public schools in Pennsylvania will be in serious trouble if the legislature gives money to nonpublic schools before passing salary and subsidy bills for public schools, says an education official.

In a statement issued Sunday, Robert Ward, president of the Western Region of the State Education Association, posed this question:

How can the state provide money for nonpublic schools "at a time when the commonwealth's education crisis is unresolved?"

Last week, the House of Representatives passed a bill to give private schools $27 million in the first year of a continuing program of aid to nonpublic schools. The bill goes to the Senate today.

Ward said association leaders and members have submitted testimony on public school needs to the legislators, have met with legislators in individual conferences, have sent letters and telegrams and submitted statistics and research data.

"What more do we have to do to convince them that public funds must be found to have the public schools," Ward added.

Last Wednesday, officials of the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia public school systems told the General Assembly the systems need an extra $75 million from the state next year.

A joint House-Senate committee is trying to resolve differing versions of teacher pay raise bills passed last month.

If You Jack Up Floor Now, You Can Save Jack Later

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sagging floors seem to be a problem common to most old houses. Floors sag when the girders beneath them are weakened and sagging. This may come about because the supporting posts were not placed properly or because either posts or girders (or both) have begun to rot.

Sometimes remodeling will cause difficulties. Walls may be relocated without additional support from below. Heavy appliances may be located in one part of the house.

And there always is the possibility that the floors sag because of faulty construction in the first place.

WHATEVER the reason, at the first sign of trouble steps should be taken to correct it.

You'll know when trouble is developing. Cracked plaster that keeps cracking; doors that won't open and close properly and which would have to be planed out of square to make them work; floors that slope so that round objects roll across a table — there are all kinds of signs.

If you suspect trouble, give girders in the basement a close inspection. Use a straight edge or a level to determine where sagging has occurred. A point at which girders have been spliced together, a corner where girders meet — these points are suspect.

A VERY simple, inexpensive and fairly foolproof device has been created to solve the problem. This is an adjustable post, called a jack post. It consists of two steel tubes, one inside the other. The height can be set easily. The inside tube has a series of holes. A steel pin slips through this and rests on the outer tube, thus setting the desired height.

The adjustment can be made only every few inches. For closer adjustment and for slowly raising the floor there is a metal plate at the top of the post. This rests on a heavy-duty adjusting screw.

There also is a base plate for the whole affair to rest on. This can be set right on the ordinary basement floor in good condition. For thin floors (less than four inches of concrete) or for floors that are cracking you may need more support. This calls for breaking a hole in the floor and making a new base of about a foot or so of concrete. Allow this to dry thoroughly before trying out the post.

THE POST is set under the girder and raised to the nearest proper height. Then the screw is adjusted until the top plate

Tiant Hurls 4th Straight Shutout As Indians Sweep O's

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

One of the trials of a sportswriter's life is high school athletic banquets.

For a free meal, you have to listen to 2 or 3 hours of praise and platitudes, half the time for losing teams. A guest speaker will deliver either a message aimed at the high school athletes, and too "square" for most of them, or a rendition of the high spots in his athletic past, about which most people present could care less. Then each coach will get up, gloss over his winless record, and spend five minutes on each boy, recounting what a great athlete and deserving young man he is. Sometimes you wonder what kind of a coach he is, with all this great material and such a lousy record. Each boy will come forward, amid cheers from his fellow students.

Then the cheerleaders, the band, the boosters club, the school board, the administration, the janitors, the dishwashers and everyone remotely connected with the athletic season and the banquet are recognized and/or thanked.

The principal will say a few words. The athletic director will say a few words. The superintendent will say a few words. And these words are a little longer than "a word from our sponsor".

BUT THIS IS to be expected. Some banquets are better than others, but the purpose of all of them is to honor the athletes of the school. This is their night. For some it is the proudest moment of their lives. Let it last for hours. So what if the sportswriter has heard all the stories before. The speaker is aiming at the kids. But don't try to say it isn't boring.

The crowning blow, however, is when you take some knocks, meant seriously. Instead of complaining of coverage during the season, when adjustments can be made, the coach will wait until the banquet, in front of all the adoring parents, and gripe about the lack of coverage.

There were two instances of this last week, and I have to refute them. First, at Beaver Local, wrestling coach Paul Jackson complained about coverage of his sport. There is a hardy band of wrestling enthusiasts at Beaver Local, more than at most schools. But still, wrestling, especially compared to basketball, is a minor sport. The average reader of the sports page, in the winter-time, cares only about basketball, unless his own school is concerned. Beaver Local wrestling was given more than adequate coverage in The Review, when possible. There were times when Jackson refused to give out information when his team lost, which of course didn't help the coverage. A newspaper has to depend on individuals in a school for coverage, and if these people don't cooperate, the school loses more than the paper.

THE OTHER instance is at Western Beaver, where golf coach Dick Temple complained about poor coverage of his team. He didn't mention, however, that when his team won the Section title, an achievement of which he seemed to be very proud — and should be — he didn't bother to have anyone inform the newspaper of it. And then he wonders why there is no recognition.

The Review tries to keep up on what sports events are upcoming, and get some kind of a result, but time is short and resources are limited, and without cooperation from the coaches it's tough to get events in the paper properly.

George Archer Wins New Orleans Open

by BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — George Archer added $20,000 to his swelling bank account today — the result of a string of birdies that won the Greater New Orleans Open golf tournament.

The 6-foot-6 pro nailed down first place in the $100,000 tournament Sunday on the 18th green by tapping in a five-foot putt for his fourth birdie on the back nine.

At 67, Archer was four under par over the demanding 6,560-yard Lakewood Country Club course — 13 under at 271 for the 72 holes. His slice of the cash boosted his PGA tour earnings to $77,632 for the year.

A superb finishing round of 66, five under par, boosted Bert Yancey to the second spot and a $12,000 payoff. Miller Barber, Tom Weiskopf and Bobby Cole tied for third at 276.

Barber and Weiskopf were tied for the lead when the final round began but both fired 73s for the last 18 holes.

Cole, who had a 65 Saturday, ran into a horrendous triple bogey at No. 15 when his tee shot disappeared in thick Spanish moss hanging from a cypress tree, and he finished with a 70.

Archer was one under on the front nine. At No. 10 he three-putted from 45 feet for a bogey 5. Then he buckled down.

On 11 he chipped in from off the green for a birdie. At 12 he rammed in a 15-foot birdie putt. At 13 his lie was four feet off the green and 30 feet from the flag but his chip shot ran straight to the hole.

Jack Nicklaus was far down the money list. His first three rounds were even par.

His fourth was a 68 — highlighted by a drive that carried the 380-yard, par-4 16th from the tee. He tied at 13th place and picked up $1,900.

For Dancer's Image Disqualification Hearing Set In Louisville Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The official hearing into the disqualification of Kentucky Derby winner Dancer's Image got under way today with the possible suspension of trainer Lou Cavalaris Jr. hanging on the outcome.

The hearing is to determine the guilt or innocence of those connected with the horse, including owner Peter Fuller of North America's leading conditioners.

Fuller has said he will not allow Dancer's Image to run in Saturday's Preakness if Cavalaris is suspended and cannot saddle the horse.

Tribe In Second After 10 For 11

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

They say pitching is 75 per cent of the game and when Luis Tiant is the man on the mound, enemy batters have trouble getting their 25 per cent worth.

Tiant hurled his fourth straight shutout Sunday, beating Baltimore on four hits as Cleveland took the first game of a doubleheader 2-0. Stan Williams then tacked on eight more scoreless innings before Brooks Robinson homered to break the spell, but the Indians completed the sweep, 4-1.

If the Orioles were somewhat suspicious of Tiant's shutout string before Sunday, it was understandable. The Cuban-born right-hander had a 0-6 lifetime record against them in four previous big-league seasons.

But he struck out nine and was in control all the way, besting Tom Phoebus in a pitcher's duel. Tony Horton's sixth inning single gave Tiant the only run he needed and Dave Nelson's suicide squeeze bunt brought in the other in the ninth.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, Boston swept a doubleheader from New York 8-1 and 4-2, Washington dropped Detroit 6-3, Minnesota rapped California 4-2 in 10 innings and Oakland took Chicago 6-2.

Tiant's four shutouts leave him one short of the major league record set in 1904 by Doc White of the Chicago White Sox. His 36 consecutive shutout innings are 20 away from the mark set by Walter Johnson. He is sporting a 1.73 earned run average.

Williams almost duplicated Tiant's job. He held the Orioles scoreless on four hits until Robinson connected in the ninth, in all the Indians have won 16 games, nine of them on shutouts.

Cleveland with 10 victories in 11 starts and four straight over Baltimore has soared into a second place tie with the Orioles, who've dropped six in a row.

Detroit is still in front despite Sunday's loss to the Senators. Frank Howard led Washington's attack with two homers — his eighth and ninth of the season — while Ken McMullen socked his fifth.

Sal Bando socked three hits and drove in two runs as the Athletics raked Chicago. Tony Pierce, making his first start of the season, won it with Jack Aker coming out of the bullpen to get the last out.

Jim Fregosi's 10th inning error allowed Minnesota's winning run to score and the Twins added an insurance run when Bob Allison walked with the bases loaded. Both California runs came as the result of bases-loaded walks by starter Dave Boswell.

But Rich Rollins' seventh inning homer tied it for the Twins and Fregosi's error on Tony Oliva's bouncer allowed Rod Carew to race home with the winner.

Dick Ellsworth pitched a three-hitter in the opener and Gary Bell allowed five hits in the second game as Boston swept the Yankees.

The Red Sox, who had dropped three straight and six of eight, jumped on Bill Monbouquette for five runs in the first inning of the opener with double: by Carl Yastrzemski, Reggie Smith and Ken Harrelson. Sox hopped on Fred Talbot for three quick runs.

From Every Starter Dark Expects Shutout On Every Pitching Turn

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BLATIMORE (AP) — "I expect a shutout every time one of my starters goes out there," said Cleveland Manager Alvin Dark. "I think they're that good."

Ordinarily that would sound like so much managerial hokum. But the way Cleveland pitchers have been performing, Dark undoubtedly believes what he says.

The remainder of the American League is in danger of becoming brainwashed, too, if the Cleveland statistics are studied.

After winning 10 of 11 games, including four in a row over the Baltimore Orioles during the weekend, the Indians have tied Baltimore for second place in the American League, two games behind the Detroit Tigers.

Of Cleveland's 16 victories, nine have been shutouts. Of its 12 defeats, seven have been by one run.

Luis Tiant hurled his fourth consecutive shutout Sunday, blanking Baltimore 2-0 on a four-hitter. Stan Williams followed with a 4-1 six-hitter, missing a shutout on a ninth-inning homer by Brooks Robinson.

Sonny Siebert and Steve Hargan each has two shutouts, and Sam McDowell has the other. This quartet and Williams have a combined earned run average a shade under 2.00 for 223 innings.

"You have to pitch a shutout to get in the rotation on this staff," said Williams, who lost a 1-0 decision in his only other start when Washington scored an unearned run.

Tiant, who moved within one of the league record of five consecutive shutouts, set in 1904 by Doc White of the Chicago White Sox, never before had beaten Baltimore and had lost six to the Orioles.

The Orioles, who have scored only six runs while losing six straight — following an eight-game winning streak — advanced only one runner past first base against Tiant.

Tony Horton's run — scoring single in the sixth inning off Tom Phoebus ended the scoreless tie and Cleveland added an earned run in the ninth. José Cardenas's two-run double highlighted a three-run rally in the fifth which clinched the nightcap.

The Indians play an exhibition game in Cincinnati tonight against the Reds. Tuesday night the New York Yankees come into Cleveland stadium as the Tribe opens a seven-game home stand.

Lowe, Hoffman, Kinsey Qualify 3 Potter School Marks Set At Track Sectional

Three East Liverpool High School track and field records were set at the sectionals at Wintersville Saturday.

Geoff Lowe ran a 4:29.8 mile, breaking the 4:31.2 mark set by John Pilgrim in 1965. Lowe was second in the mile and third in the 880 with a 2:03 clock. Ted Hoffman broke his own two-mile record of 10:02, placing second with a 10:00.5 mark. Marv Kinsey extended his own record in the discus, taking third with a 147-7 toss.

All three boys will go to the regionals, to be held Saturday at North Canton Hoover High School. The field events start at 1:15 p.m.

Wellsville failed to qualify anyone.

Pirates Edge Phils 2-1; Dodgers Win 1-0 In 12th

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Davis kept the faith in one baseball adage and Walter Alston flouted another. The Los Angeles Dodgers came out ahead both ways.

Davis overhauled the law of averages Sunday, breaking an 0-for-24 slump with a 12th inning triple and scoring on Zoilo Versalles' infield hit as the Dodgers nipped Atlanta 1-0 ... with the help of a hazardous managerial maneuver by Alston.

The Los Angeles skipper ordered Hank Aaron walked intentionally — putting the potential winning run on base — during the Braves' last-ditch rally in the bottom of the 12th.

"I wasn't going to let Aaron beat me," said Alston, explaining why he had Jim Brewer walk Aaron with two out and one on.

Felipe Alou, who had doubled in scoring position, "I broke an unwritten rule, but Hank's one of those rare characters you can justify breaking that rule for."

The Dodgers got away with it when Jim Grant, third reliever in the inning, induced pinch hitter Deron Johnson to bounce into a game-ending force play at second.

In other National League squeakers Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 2-1, Houston shaded first place St. Louis 3-2 and Cincinnati came from behind to beat San Francisco 3-1. The Chicago Cubs divided a doubleheader with New York, topping the Mets 4-3 before taking a 10-0 drubbing in the nightcap.

Davis' rap shot up the right center field alley with two out in the 12th and he legged the hit into a triple. Versalles then brought home the game's only run by beating out a roller to the left side.

Davis' triple off Cecil Upshaw was only the fourth hit for the Dodgers, who managed just two in eight innings against starter Dick Kelley. Don Sutton, who worked the first nine innings, winner Jack Billingham, John Purdin, Brewer and Grant limited the Braves to seven hits.

Run-scoring singles by Roberto Clemente and Matty Alou gave the Pirates a 2-0 first inning lead and right-hander Al McBean made it stand up for his fifth victory in seven decisions.

McBean scattered seven hits while the Pirates tagged rookie

Jeff James for five singles in the first ... and just one more hit the rest of the way.

Denis Menke's two-run single off Bob Gibson with two out in the seventh carried the Astros past St. Louis. Larry Dierker held the Cardinals to seven hits, including a homer by Mike Shannon, in gaining his third victory against five setbacks.

Willie Mays' 570th career homer gave the Giants a 1-0 lead at Cincinnati, but the Reds struck for three runs in the eighth and hung on to end a five-game losing string. Winning pitcher Gerry Arrigo allowed three hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Leo Cardenas and pinch hitter Chico Ruiz got the Reds' rally started with singles and Cardenas scored the tying run as Pete Rose tapped into a force play. Alex Johnson followed with a run-scoring double and tallied on a single by Tony Perez.

The Cubs' opener was tied 3-3 when Chicago pitcher Rich Nye led off the ninth with a single and was forced at second by Don Kessinger. Kessinger stole second and then raced all the way home with the winning run as Glenn Beckert beat out a bouncer to short.

Dick Selma stopped the Cubs on five hits in the nightcap and contributed three singles to New York's 17-hit assault. Met catcher Jerry Grote had three hits in the first game and stroked singles his first two times up in the nightcap for a three-game run of seven successive hits before the Cubs finally got him out.

Drake, Bradley Win Trophies At Tourneys

CINCINNATI (AP) — Drake and Bradley left here over the weekend with the championship trophies of the Missouri Valley Conference track and tennis tournaments.

Drake's Bulldogs scored 150 points for the track and field title, outclassing second-place North Texas State by 45 points. Undeclared Bradley posted 14 points to annex the tennis crown, edging favorite Tulsa by two.

Canadiens Are Champs, Coach Toe Blake Retires

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup, but veteran goaltender Glenn Hall of the St. Louis Blues probably put the series in its proper perspective with his post-game comments. "You could have flipped a coin in some of those games to decide the winner," Hall said, after the tenacious Blues had bowed out in four straight games with Saturday's 3-2 loss.

The victory, before a crowd of 15,505, gave Montreal its 13th Stanley Cup since 1930 and its third in a four-year span.

The powerful Canadiens, who swept through the Boston Bruins in four straight and beat the Chicago Black Hawks in five games, were limited to a one-goal margin in each of their four victories over St. Louis.

They won by 3-2, 1-0, 4-3 and 3-2 margins, with the first and third games decided in overtime.

On the other side of the rink, the traditional champagne party in the winners' dressing room was postponed until after a post-game announcement by Coach Toe Blake that he was resigning after guiding the team to nine league titles and eight Stanley Cups since 1955.

"I just can't take it anymore — the tension and the pressure are too much," said Blake, who is 55.

It meant the close-knit Canadiens' organization was losing the cog that had held it together through the troublesome times of the early season going, before the club caught fire last Christmas to climb from the cellar to a first-place finish.

J. C. Tremblay, an outstanding Montreal defenseman for seven seasons, scored the winning goal at 11:40 of the third period Saturday. He also assisted on the tying goal four minutes earlier by Henri Richard.

Scotty Bowman, the Blues' coach, said his players gave as much as he had asked "and no one could have given any more."

Each St. Louis player took home $6,000 as the loser's share. The Canadiens picked up $7,500 per man for the win, in addition to the $2,250 they had won previously as league champions.

REX CAMPBELL Will Attend Ohio Univ.

Rex Campbell Will Attend Ohio Univ.

Rex Campbell of Beaver Local High School has signed a partial grant-in-aid to play baseball at Ohio University at Athens.

A catcher, Campbell is currently hitting around the 400 mark for the Beavers who have not completed their season. Last week Campbell was voted the most valuable player on the baseball team and received an award at the annual banquet.

A three-sport standout, Campbell was the leading scorer on the basketball squad and played offensive end in football. Last season with the Beavers he hit .350 as a junior. He attended East Liverpool High School his sophomore year, earning a varsity letter in basketball.

He was named to the Colt League All-Star team the past two seasons and during the 1967 season, playing for American Legion Post 374, hit at a .444 clip.

At least six major league scouts have expressed interest in the young catcher.

Ohio University is one of the leading baseball schools in the Mid-American Conference and has captured the conference title eight times in the past 20 years. The Bobcats wrapped up the title this season by defeating Western Michigan last week and are riding on a 13-game winning streak. Bob Wren is the head baseball coach at the Athens school.

Campbell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Lakeview Estates. The elder Campbell played and managed teams in the former City Baseball League for many years.

Giovenco Pigeon Ist From Newark

A pigeon owned by Vic Giovenco won the East Liverpool Racing Pigeon Club race from Newark yesterday.

Next in the race was a bird owned by Allie Rice, followed by entries of Don Cain, Bill Allison, Tony Deltardo and Tommy Jackson. Seventeen lofts participated.

Next Sunday's race will be from New Carlisle, Ohio, 200 miles.

Ohio Wrestler Takes U.S. Freestyle Title

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Ex-Olympian Bobby Douglas of Bridgeport, Ohio, whipped Ron Huff of the Air Force Academy 7-5 Saturday to capture the 138.5 pound championship in the U. S. Olympic freestyle wrestling trials at Iowa State University.

Another Ohioan, Harry Houska of Athens, was beaten in the 213.5 class, Jesse Lewis of Corvallis, Ore., defeated Houska 2-1 and the Buckeyes finished with a third place ranking.

In the singles actual, Charles Close of Kilbuck won with a 714 and Clarence Achramm of Akron was second with 688.

HIGH SCORE. Dorothy Waddingham of 108 Hillcrest Manor, Midland, bowled a 620 scratch series Wednesday night at the Riviera Bowling Lanes. She bowls for Derramo's. Her average is 157. It is the first time she has had a 600 in league play and she is the first woman to do it this year at the lanes. She has been bowling four years.

PEEK WITH PETE!!

481 Thompson Ave. An elegant 2 1/2 story Colonial home, 1st floor, an inviting reception hall, spacious and cheerful living room with a woodburning fireplace. Family room, formal dining room with a gorgeous crystal chandelier. Brand new plush carpeting on the entire first floor. Modern kitchen with plenty of birch cabinets, new ceramic tiled powder room with shower, glassed in sunporch, 2nd floor, 3 large bedrooms, 2 full baths, 1 1/2 car garage, in wall to wall carpeting and spacious clothes presses. Modern ceramic tiled bath. 3rd floor, 2 additional full size bedrooms, full cemented basement, gas fired hot water heating system, extra large lot 46 1/2 x 150 with plenty of trees and shrubbery and one of the nicest views of the Ohio River. This is a handsome home with plenty of dignity and charm for the most discerning buyer. You'll be proud to put your name plate on this home. Shown by appointment only!

John St., Glenmoor. One story brick home with approximately 1800 sq. ft. of luxurious living area, large living room with a large stone fireplace and picture window, formal dining room, the living room and dining room are plushly carpeted with a heavy grade of foam padding underneath. Custom built kitchen with built in range and oven and plenty of birch cabinets, 3 extra large bedrooms and modern bath. Off of the master bedroom there is a large deck with glass sliding doors. Hardwood floors, AM and FM radio intercom throughout the house. All the windows are thermopane, full cemented basement, with a large finished recreation room and another fireplace and full bath. Gas furnace, 2 car integral garage. One full acre lot. Call for details!

Birch Rd. Just like new, English Tudor cottage. Cozy living room with wood burning fireplace, hardwood floors, beamed ceilings and paneled walls. Modern kitchen with plenty of birch cabinets and a breakfast bar, plus a half of a bath that is partly finished into 2 additional bedrooms. Full cemented basement, oil furnace, aluminum storm windows and doors. Large lot 150 x 150 with plenty of trees and shrubbery. This is a charming home with lots of warmth and a homey feeling. $13,500.

1440 Penn Ave. 1 1/2 story modern brick home, first floor: glassed in sun porch, large living room with a brick fireplace and a huge mirror over top. Bookcases on each end. Formal dining room with built in china cabinet. Ultra modern kitchen with built in range, oven, dish washer and refrigerator and plenty of birch cabinets. Modern marble bath. The hardwood floors on the first story are carpeted wall to wall. 2nd floor: 3 large bedrooms and plenty of clothes press space and another modern bath. Full cemented basement, new baseboard hot water heating system, gas incinerator, 1 1/2 car garage, large corner lot 73 x 133. This home has been completely remodeled on the inside. Call for details!

Longview Heights, Calcutta. New just 10 years old, one story brick home, large living room with picture window, dining room with picture window, wall to wall carpeting in the living room and dining room over the hardwood floors, modern kitchen with range, oven, refrigerator and plenty of cabinets. 2 bedrooms with hardwood floors, modern tiled bath, cemented patio off of the kitchen, marble window sills, full cemented basement, radiant heat, 2 car attached garage, black topped driveway. Large, landscaped lot 100 x 180 with plenty of trees and shrubbery. This is a cheerful home with plenty of eye appeal. $18,000.

Imperial Drive. New just 3 years old 2 story Colonial home, 1st floor: cheerful foyer with guest closet, large living room with woodburning fireplace and wall to wall carpeting. Formal dining room with wall to wall carpeting. Custom built kitchen with built in range, oven and plenty of cabinets. Powder room. 2nd floor: 4 large bedrooms with hardwood floors and spacious clothes presses, ceramic tiled bath, full cemented basement, gas furnace, 2 car attached garage, black topped driveway, city water and sewer. Junior Editors Quiz on PEARLS

QUESTION: How are pearls formed?

ANSWER: The pearl ranks as a gem, but is different from other gems because it is not made of stone. Also, nature fashions the shape so we do not have to recut it to bring out the beauty. Pearls grow inside six species of pearl oyster, especially those found in the Persian Gulf and the South Sea islands. A pearl begins as a tiny speck of sand or other foreign matter which gets into an oyster. This irritates the soft body, so the outer body edge or mantle covers the speck with the smooth, thin, delicately colored material or nacre which is used to line the inside of the two shells. Gradually, more and more nacre is added and a pearl forms, getting larger and rounder until it is free from the shell (upper picture). Many oysters must be brought up by divers before good pearls are found. But when a splendid pearl is discovered it is an exciting moment, for pearls can have a fabulous value if they have perfect shape and that beautiful, mysterious luster for which this gem is so famous. "Cultured" pearls are those formed artificially by introducing little pellets into the body of a living pearl oyster.

Althea Money of E. St. Louis, Ill., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's World Yearbook, if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, is selected for a prize.
